Tells How He Operates

Huge Profits Accompany Im-

Norfolk, Va. — Dodging through flotillas of destroyers, playing tag with submarine chasers, cruising close to the breakers watching for the blink of a light from the shore signaling "all's well" and cleaning up a fortune on a single voyage—these are some of the experiences of an Atlantic coast, booze smuggler, as told to the United Press Thursday.

This smuggler is only one of many who are bringing cargo after cargo of liquor into this country from the West Indies, plugging up astounding profits and laughing at the hootch blockade the government tries to maintain against them.

His real name cannot be revealed.
He will be called Captain X. He is a college graduate and skipper of a speedy sea-going motor boat capable of carrying thirty tons. While in Norfolk he lives as a law-abiding citizen and resides in a luxurious apartment. While he is resting between trips he docks his rum runner right in Norfolk harbor.

How He Works
"Here is how we work," he said.
"Our shore agents, quietly" solicit orders from men who are able to buy stock for their cellars and are willing to pay a good price for high class goods. In two weeks we have enough orders to load my boat.

"We cleared docks for action, so to speak—disposed of all necessities and took along an arsenal of six rifles and plenty of ammunition.

"For crew I had a man who had been taking care of the boat in the harbor and a negro whom I hired to help with the engines and stand watch with us at the wheel.

"Before I sailed our shore agent told me there were two other boats making the trip at about the same time but that they would put into other ports.

Saw No U. S. Craft
"We made the Bahamas in six days and never saw a government craft. It was about two hours after we landed that a man came up, told me he knew I was a rum runner and said he was a dealer and in a position to fill my order. That order included five hundred gallons of rum and about every foreign liquor you could name,
but the dealer had them all in his stores.

"Loading the cargo was ticklish work. We knew the government had agents down there looking for bootleggers so they could get ready to intercept us. We worked at night. The boat was carried down to the water front and stowed on barges. Under bales of hay. Then we slipped alongside my boat and transferred the cases.

"Then, with our valuable cargo under hatch, we started the real dangerous part of the business. We kept a close watch on the water front toward Norfolk, expecting any minute to have some revenue boat down on us.

Had Narrow Escape
"They nearly got us. A fairly big steamer hove in sight one day and passed quite close. We kept right on our way suspecting nothing when suddenly out from behind the steamer popped a submarine chaser, circled the big ship's stern, and came for us hell bent. We altered our course a couple of times but the chaser kept on heading for us. Finally when she was just close aboard I turned and went straight to meet her.
We kept our heads down as we passed and laid out a cable over our stern.
"She turned around almost on her own axis and did just what we figured she would do. That finished the chase.
We went on our way. It was a close shave.

Asked No Questions
"But the next was even more startling. We ran plump into a flotilla of American destroyers. There they were all around us. Believe me for a few minutes I thought our cargo wasn't worth a nickel. But they never even hailed us and we kept on our way.

"It was dark and rather thick when we made the coast. We cruised along as close to the surface as we dared,
all three of us straining our eyes through the blackness toward where the shore lay, while I flashed our light repeatedly. We were on the point of giving up when blink-blink came the signal of our agent.

"We were glad to see it. We picked our way into a cove and there was the shore agent with three motor trucks waiting for us. We transferred the booze that night and that was as far as I went with it.

"We made $18,000 on that trip.
Brown got half and the navigator and the negro were paid handsomely. We have made a number of trips since then and cleaned up each time."

JERSEY PEOPLE SEEK WILD MAN IN CRIME WAVE

Disappearance of School Girl Adds New Mystery to Series of Assaults

By United Press Leased Wire
Fresh Ponds, N. J.—The mysterious disappearance of Stella Ostrasky, six years old, Thursday led to fresh reports about a New Jersey wild man who is suspected of carrying off children.

Stella vanished during recess at the country school she attends near Fresh Pond last Tuesday.

Her disappearance came at a time when the mysterious murder of little Janet Lawrence in Kluge woods near Madison, where she was hacked with a knife, was still unsolved; and when the people of Westwood were hunting a wild looking man who attacked a young woman there and cut off her hair. Investigators believe all these crimes may have been committed by the same man.

One man is in jail as a result of the epidemic of crimes against women and children. He is Louis Lively, negro, accused of murdering a little girl at East Moorestown, N. J. But the latest hair clipping and the disappearance of Stella occurred after Lively was locked up.

A suspect is also held in the case of the death of Janet Lawrence.
Lawyers for these men contend
they cannot be guilty as the attacks continue. There have been many reports in circulation of a "wild man"

Madison, N. J.—Suspected of hacking Janet Lawrence, 12, to death with a penknife after attacking her in Kluge woods, Frank Jankona, 20, is held in jail here, police announced
Thursday.

Jankona was arrested last Wednesday after Frank McGroarty, an acquaintance of his, told Captain Brex of the Newark detective bureau that Jankona had confessed the crime
to him.

Albany, N. Y.—Jeremiah T. Carey, Albany, international president of the Papermakers' union, has been re-elected for a two year term. It was announced here Thursday.

Other officers elected include: George J. Schneider, Appleton, Wis., fourth vice president; Matthew Burns, Kaukauna, Wis., secretary.

at his bedside during the first epidemic of influenza.

"She nursed me back to health at Camp Zachary Taylor, Ky.," Harriman said, "when I was in serious condition from influenza and pneumonia.
Then she nursed me through subse-

MUTUAL FEAR WAS CAUSE OF RAIL RUCTION

Rail Board's Power to Avert
New Wage Cut Virtually Means No Strike

U. S. BACKS BOARD FULLY Harding Refuses to Let Quarrel
Over Imaginary Ills Cause
Public Hardship

By David Lawrence
(Copyright, 1921, by Post Pub. Co.)
Washington.—The United States railroad labor board has practically averted the strike set for next week on America's railway systems.

The brotherhood chiefs have won a temporary victory.
The railroad executives will be compelled to bow to the inevitable and postpone their request for a second wage cut. Even if they fail to withdraw it, the decision of the United States railroad labor to ignore the request until next July will be sufficient ground for the unions to persuade their men to stay at work.

The foregoing is the view taken here of the latest developments in the railroad situation. Every move made at Chicago has been with the knowledge and consent of the Harding administration. Executive influence has been behind the scenes from the beginning. The railroad labor board is carrying out to the letter the program agreed upon by the administration and announced in these dispatches last week.

Mr. Harding's suspicion
In reality President Harding has felt that the whole thing was an unfortunate misunderstanding in which mutual suspicion played more of a part than did the actual merits of the controversy. He has refused to allow a quarrel over imaginary issues to force a railroad strike on a helpless public. Mr. Harding went straight to the bottom of the case and found that the railroad brotherhood leaders were ordering a strike to make good their original protest against a second wage cut. That second cut had not even been debated or the facts presented to the labor board. So far as the merits of the case were concerned, it was purely an imaginary issue.

The president has been hoping for a cut in freight rates. Decisions have been announced making some sweeping reductions. But the expected cut in freight rate on lumber is still pending. And the decision in the grain case is really an invitation to the coal shippers and others to

GOYTHAM MAIL LOOT NOW TEN MILLION

New York — Loot in the mail truck holdup on lower Broadway may total $10,000,000, postal inspectors admitted Thursday, making it the biggest robbery in criminal history.

Banking and brokerage concerns had reported $750,000 worth of missing securities and additional reports were being received.

Postmaster General Hays who had offered $5,000 reward for each of the three bandits "dead or alive," was to come here Thursday to direct the investigation.

BEER FLOOD SOON

real beer now held by brewers,
some of which is made in
"pre-voleted" days, can be sold at beer regulations, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon said Thursday.

Mellon said he was taking every means to make certain that the regulations were put into operation expeditiously.

CASHIER SLUGGED BY BANDITS WHO ROB BADGER BANK

Posse is Seeking Auto Bandits
After Robbery of Bank
at Canton

By United Press Leased Wire
Canton, Wis.—Slipping into this city unnoticed late Wednesday afternoon, automobile bandits slugged Cashier, Irwin Johnson of the Farmers' State bank here and made their escape with $4,000.

The robbery was discovered shortly after 4 o'clock and search revealed Johnson had been handcuffed and locked in the vault. Johnson regained consciousness late Wednesday, but was unable to give the authorities an account of the robbery.

An automobile posse was hurriedly organized and a systematic search is being made for the bandits. Hundreds of citizens joined in the search Thursday.

One clue has been furnished by a pedestrian who notified Sheriff Johnson he had seen a large black touring car drive into the city about 3 o'clock.
He said the car contained three men,
all strangers in the city.

The money obtained was scooped up from the cashier's cage. The interior of the bank revealed plainly that a struggle had taken place. Furniture was topsy-turvy, and a trail was left between the cashier's cage and the vault by the dragging of

Union Heads To Be Jailed If They Permit Strike

Union Heads Hear Final U. S. Warning

Government Official Outlines Last Concession U. S. Will Make to Prevent Strike at Secret Meeting Strike of Leaders.

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago — Government officials on Thursday outlined final concessions
the United States railroad labor board would make to the 2,000,000 railroad workers of the nation in an effort to prevent the October 30 strike.

The proposition was made to union chiefs by Ben Hoover, vice chairman and public representative of the board in addressing a secret session of the union heads at the Masonic temple.

Immediately after Hoover presented his program for settlement of the dispute, the union meeting adjourned until 1 p. m. when the union heads will meet to formulate their answer.

It took Hoover nearly three hours to outline his plan. Following the meeting he appeared very optimistic.
"The labor board will not consider any petition for further wage cuts in the future," Hoover told the union chiefs, the United Press learned.

No More Wage Cuts
"All differences regarding rules and working conditions must be disposed of by the board before it would take up the question of any petition for further cut in wages which railroad executives might file.

"You have the promise of the executives that they will not cut wages without orderly process by the board.
"If you strike, you will be striking solely on the wage cut of last July, which was only a small percentage of the total increases granted during the war."

Hoover went into the history of negotiations leading up to the strike vote.
"I came before you as a man, a citizen and as a member of the United States railroad board in an effort to avert this catastrophe. Hoover told the union heads.

"The board has not sent me only two or three members of the board known I was coming.
"I want to urge on you that you consider every possible step to prevent the strike."

Hoover explained the statement which was issued by the board last Tuesday, in which executives were notified no further wage reductions would be considered by the board in the immediate future.

Hoover said he went before the men
"perhaps by invitation, certainly by agreement."

There was a strong feeling in circles close to the union heads and the labor board that Hoover had presented a basis on which the controversy could be settled without a strike.

Hoover said he was prepared to take in case the strike should become effective, to force union chiefs to rescind the strike call.

Even while he spoke, department of justice agents were carefully watching the proceedings in order to get the evidence needed for court action.

Executives' Need
When the chiefs left the meeting, they were solemn and silent. They refused to discuss Hoover's proposition.

While Hoover addressed the union heads, other members of the board met with A. P. Thom, chief counsel for railroad executives.

CLUBWOMEN OPEN DRIVE FOR MEMBERS AND FUNDS

With enthusiasm running high, more than one hundred women started Thursday morning in the campaign to secure 1,500 members and $10,000 for Appleton Women's club. Reports of the first day's drive will be read at a supper meeting at 6 o'clock Thursday evening in the club room. The women hope to complete the canvass Friday evening.

Leaders in the campaign said it is obviously impossible to see every woman in Appleton in the two days allotted to the campaign and wish to make it clearly understood that every woman and girl of 18 years of age and over is eligible for membership and is wanted as a member.
Women who are not at home when the campaigners call or who are missed for other reasons and requested to give their applications and dues to any member of the soliciting committees or to turn them into the club room. Every woman who is interested in what the club is doing for Appleton and its people is wanted as a member, campaign leaders said.

Final instructions to workers were given at the supper meeting Wednesday evening. Group conferences were in progress the greater part of the evening to arrange for every detail of the canvass.
A concrete lesson in salesmanship was given by Mrs. John Engle, Jr. and Miss Edith Buckmaster in a playlet in which Mrs. Engle impersonated the various types of women who will be approached and Miss Buckmaster played the part of the club campaigner who was seeking her membership.

Campaigners today are seeking new memberships as well as to renew those of last year. The club goal of 1,500 and $10,000 is easily obtainable if the workers impress on prospective members and donors
the really great work which the club is doing, leaders told the women.

Seek To End Age-old German War Terror

French Idea of New Triple Alliance Not Expected to Meet With Favor at Coming Arms Conference — Solution is Promised.

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington — The question of protection of France against potential German aggression will arise in the coming arms limitation conference.

Germany, however, will not be invited to send a delegate or delegation, according to present plans, despite the fact that she is now putting out feelers for an invitation. The conference hold that there is a sufficient ly large attendance list now and that when questions touching Germany arise, that nation can be reached easily through the reparations commission or other channels.

France at the moment is nursing the old idea of a triple alliance, France, England and America—as a guarantee against possible repetition of Germany's sweep into northern France.

This will meet with favor here.
While American military authorities share the British view that Germany for the time being is quite impotent, the conference will undoubtedly undertake some sort of guarantee for the future, according to authoritative information Thursday.

The nature of this guarantee is withheld but the United States is informed that France will probably be content with the scheme.

Land disarmament will be subordinated in the conference. But the growth of militarism in France,
based on the French say, on a fear of Germany—will be considered. And the conference, beyond doubt, will endeavor to take such steps as will ally
the French fears and remove the ground for maintenance of a large army establishment.

Germany, according to United Press
information, stands ready to give adequate guarantees—to acquiesce in almost any plan America and the allies may suggest—in order to be freed of the hitherto threats of military occupation in western Germany.

U. S. Is Ready To Halt Tieup If Trains Stop

Daugherty Plans to Obtain Court Injunctions to Prevent Interference With Mails or Interstate Commerce.

By Herbert W. Walker
Washington—Railroad brotherhood chiefs may be jailed if they refuse to rescind their strike call and a coup of the mails and interstate commerce results, it was indicated Thursday at the department of justice.

With the "zero hour" for the threatened rail strike approaching, Attorney General Daugherty has decided that if the railroad development has ample authority to obtain court injunctions restraining any interference with the mails or interstate commerce.

Any failure of the union chiefs to obey the injunctions would in all probability be classed as contempt of court and the leaders could be imprisoned, it was stated at the department.

Find Precedent
Daugherty has found a precedent for such action was established during the famous Pullman strike of 1894. The United States supreme court then upheld such steps taken by the federal government.

Eugene V. Debs, now in the federal prison at Atlanta for violation of the espionage law was jailed in 1894 because he and other leaders of the American Railway union refused to obey a court injunction against the strike. These leaders were in prison for six months.

United States supreme court
the lower courts injunction.
The federal government is now ready to meet an emergency in a strike. Daugherty said.

Emergency Plans Ready
Plans for meeting the strike have been completed, ready to be put into execution if the strike is not averted and any large number of rail workers leave their posts, he said Thursday.

The federal government, he stated, proposes to take all steps necessary to move the mails and to keep all nations of the country supplied with food and fuel.

From official sources, it was learned that the government's course of action if union leaders do not call off
the strike probably will be as follows:

1. A public appeal by President Harding Friday or Saturday, in which he is expected to ask continued operation of the transportation systems on the grounds that the public welfare cannot be jeopardized.

2. Court injunctions restraining interference with the mails and interstate commerce, with jail sentences threatened for violations.

3. Coordination of the motor trucks of the country into a big transportation unit under the direction of Secretary of Commerce Hoover to supplement the trains which it is expected will be kept running, even if the union leaders refuse to rescind the strike call.

Troops will be used only as a last resort.
At first armed forces will be employed only to maintain order, but should the tieup become extremely

Left Embargo
Houston, Tex.—The freight embargo, in effect on the International & Great Northern since Saturday when about 500 yardmen and switchmen on that road walked out, was partially lifted Thursday by an order from Horace Booth, traffic manager of the road.

The embargo was "loosened" to allow acceptance of shipments from other roads beginning Thursday.
from three points—Longview Junction, San Antonio and Taylor. The last two included shipments from three points to Mexico, according to Booth's order. All consignments from one point to another on the company's main line and branches were to be handled.

HER LEAP FOR LIFE
BECAME TOO REAL
WHEN ROPE BREAKS
Milwaukee — Tiring of dolls,
mud pies and playing house, Violet Hamilton, 10, and several of her little friends decided to stage an imitation of a movie thriller here Wednesday afternoon.

The children went to the back porch on the fourth floor of the building where a long clothes line prompted the movie thriller imitation. Violet tied the rope about her waist and took the "leap for life."

Either the rope or Violet lost her grip. There was a terror stricken scream and Violet's body fell, landing on the cement sidewalk 25 feet below. She was rushed to the hospital where it was found she was only slightly injured.

LEGION PLANS BRIEF PROGRAM FOR PEACE DAY

Appleton Will be Asked to Be Silent for Two Minutes Nov. 11 to Honor Dead

Significance of Armistice day, anniversary of the ending of the World war, will be brought home with emphasis to the men, women and children of Appleton on Friday, Nov. 11, when the Oney Johnston post of the American Legion will be in charge of special services in the city schools and at Lawrence campus. While there will be no general holiday everyone will be asked to pause in his work to honor the memory of the "unknown"

Dog Travels 90 Miles To His Old Home

Otto L. Knoke is the owner of an Airedale dog that found its way back to its former home at Hatley, a distance of 90 miles. It was brought to Appleton on the running board of the automobile of its master who made a circuitous trip, stopping at Black Creek, Seymour, New London and other points. Mr. Knoke missed his dog a few days later and supposed he was lost. Word from his son at Hatley, his former home, informed him the dog was there. From the time the animal was missed until he was reported at Hatley was less than 48 hours.

chairman of the committee, assisted by several other committees. These committees are as follows: Marshaling schools—Stephen D. Balliet, Frank Bellew, Lee C. Rasey, W. H. Zuchko, D. O. Kinsman.

DANCE AT HORTONVILLE

Another Big Dancing Party Will be Held in Hortonville Auditorium, Friday Night, Oct. 28. Pumpkin pie and chicken supper.

solider who is to be buried at Arlington cemetery.

The program on Armistice day will open at 9 o'clock in the morning when speakers, selected by the legion, will deliver short addresses in every school in the city. These addresses will not only call attention to the reason for solemn observance of Armistice day but will also seek to impress a few lessons in good citizenship and patriotism. The legion's selection of speakers will be announced later.

About 11 o'clock or shortly thereafter all school children from the fifth grade up will march from their schools to Lawrence campus where special ceremonies are to be held. Lawrence campus was selected as the site for the services instead of Soldier square because it was feared that the square would not be large enough to accommodate the crowds. The school children will march to meeting places on College-ave. where they will fall in line behind the war veterans and a band for a parade to the campus.

Moment of Silence

The program on the campus, which is to begin at 11:30 will consist of a few 5-minute speeches. About two minutes before 12 o'clock all the church bells, school bells and whistles in the city will start ringing and tooting and all are to stop at promptly 12 o'clock after which there is to be two minutes of absolute silence to honor the memory of men who lost their lives in the World war. Every industry in the city will be asked to stop its machinery, pedestrians will be asked to halt in their tracks and every moving thing stop for those two minutes. Mayor J. A. Hawes will be requested to issue a proclamation calling attention to the legion's wishes in this regard.

Following the two minutes of silence, taps will be sounded and the assemblage will break up. Preparations for the ceremonies are under the direction of Charles C. Baker, post commander, and general

FORUM FRIENDS ASKED TO PLEDGE GUARANTY FUND

Final Preparations Will be Made
Friday Night for Winter
Lectures

Final preparations for opening of the Appleton Public Forum are being made by the committees in charge so that everything will be in readiness when Dr. Frederick S. Shannon of Chicago the first speaker, comes here to lecture on "Disarmament." Sunday evening, Nov. 6, Forum meetings will be held every Sunday evening thereafter until late in February, except during the Christmas holiday season. Sixteen lectures will be booked.

A meeting of all committeemen will be held at 8 o'clock Friday evening in the council chamber of the city hall to discuss plans for entertaining speakers, taking care of the crowds and providing publicity.

Letters were mailed today to 50 prominent Appleton men and women asking them to pledge $10 to help defray any deficit which may occur at the end of the season. Expenses of the course are defrayed by collections at each meeting but it is believed to be good business policy to secure pledges to make up any deficit which might exist.

The program this year is expected to cost about $1,000, of which about $800 will be expended for speakers. Last year collections averaged about $70 a meeting and if the same average is maintained this year there will not be a deficit.

The program committee, under the direction of Dr. Samuel Plantz, has almost completed the program for the season. A few speakers still are uncertain.

HAD FACE MADE OVER; FEELS YOUNGER NOW

Noted Actress of Other Days Will Tell World How to Look Young

By Alice Rolfe

New York.—Have you seen Edna Wallace Hopper—the 1921 model, I mean?

An interview with the diminutive actress who was famous a long time ago, brings the revelation that woman may look like Edna as well as her mirror in the face without fear.

"Yes, I've had my face surgically 'made over,'" said the small person, looking very much like a girl of 19. "I guess I'm the first woman to admit it. And not only that—but I was filmed in the act!"

"I'll not only permit exhibition of the film, but I'll appear in person to show that it's real."

"Of course, there are all kinds of people who 'remember me when'—Well, some of them won't believe I'm the same person when they see me now."

"It's just great to gaze in the mirror and see my face looking as young as I feel."

"Oh if you only knew the tragedies that have been revealed to me by women since I've had this done! All women in this age are young in spirit. It's awful, when you feel 25, to see the tell-tale lines in your face and reflect the other person's point of view when he's estimating you."

"No, it isn't vanity—it's life—it's happiness—it's a woman's career that makes her resort to this."

"Some one—suppose—said long ago that a man is as old as he feels, and a woman as old as she looks. Well I believe women; have the right to look as old as they feel."

"The only uplift movements aren't social. The uplifting of women's sagging lines is just as important. It makes them happier healthier women."

"Science has made it possible for women to keep youthful faces to keep youthful figures. It won't be long before science prolongs life. And if scientists want to experiment on any one—here's a small person ready for them."

"It's nice to hear you say I look wonderful—but the only wonderful thing about it is that I've told! You see many women every day and wonder how they keep so young looking. Why they've had plastic surgery performed. And it isn't women alone who go in for it—it's MEN."

DEATHS

WILLIAM BRAY
William Bray, 29, who spent most of his life in Appleton, died Thursday morning at his home in Little Rock, Ark., after a brief illness. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Bray, 548 Washington-st., were notified in a telegram this morning. It is probable that the funeral will be in Little Rock.

Mr. Bray lived in Appleton until a few years ago. He conducted an art store in the southern city.

COUNTESS TAKES IN WASHING TO KEEP WOLF AWAY

London Society is Shocked
When Noblewoman Opens
Laundry

(Special to Post-Crescent)

London.—Another "tragedy" of the New Poor—the Old Nobility—is moving London society as only such things can move it. A countess is taking in washing.

She is the Countess of Clonmell, whose husband is an Irish peer of ancient lineage but scanty resources.

Right in the heart of London's luxury quarter she has opened the White Elephant Laundry, where under her personal supervision the linen of those who dearly love a lord and his lady may be washed and starched by girls arrayed in gaudily flowered garments more suggestive of musical comedy than tubs and mangles.

"If I have opened the laundry," the countess says, "because I really must do something useful and practical in the changed conditions that face us today."

"It is no longer possible for people like us, with fixed incomes derived from rent and interest, to live on what we receive, and I have often thought that if I had to earn my own living I would prefer to earn it in this way."

"I think most people will appreciate a laundry in which they can be certain of having their linen handled as though it were really valuable instead of having it ruined."

"The washing of clothes is an art and I hold that only artists should be employed for it. Therefore I have chosen my girls with care and I am sure they take their work seriously."

"I intend to provide ideal conditions for the girls, for I am sure that without ideal surroundings you cannot get ideal work done."

Lady Clonmell belongs to a well-known English county family in Warwickshire and has been active in politics and in social life for years.

MUTUAL FEAR WAS RAIL RUCTION CAUSE

got busy and ask for the same reductions. And the Farm Bureau has already replied.

Lost Their Heads

On the other hand, the president has realized that the chief cause of the mixup was the tendency of both the railroads and the labor leaders to move too precipitately. The first wage cut of last July had not been accepted by the men when the railroad executives threatened another dose. But the administration believes it would be more tactful, even from the railroad viewpoint, if sufficient time were permitted to elapse so that the effects of the first wage cut could be digested by the men, so that, to be sure, they could make the necessary adjustments in their household budgets.

The second wage cut may or may not materialize. Why, asks Mr. Harding, have a railroad strike over something that may yet become unnecessary?

Meanwhile, the United States railroad labor board has done another effective thing in refusing to consider more cases involving wage cuts until there is an agreement on working rules. The labor leaders have had a tremendous tactical advantage in ordering a strike because they have always been able to point to the refusal of the railroads to accept the decisions of the United States railroad board on working rules as indicating that the railroad executives were really trying to destroy unionism.

For some time it has been said in well informed labor quarters here that if the railroads did not privately and otherwise make it plain that they are trying to deliver a body blow against union labor, the wage cuts would be swallowed more easily. Some labor leaders have indicated that if the rule question is settled satisfactorily, there will not be much difficulty over wage adjustments.

RUSSIANS NEED A BARREL OF MONEY TO BUY CLOTHING

Essentials in Russia are Expensive While Luxuries are Cheap

By John Grandenz

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Moscow.—The well-dressed woman in Russia today could be outfitted for from 4,000,000 to 8,000,000 rubles, and a man would spend about 1,500,000 rubles.

This, in American money, would mean between $1,000 and $2,000 for a woman's clothing, and $350 for a man's.

Some of the articles a woman would buy, and their prices, would be:

Slippers, 300,000 rubles; shoes, 500,000; dress, 1,000,000; tailored suit, 1,500,000 to 2,000,000; cotton stockings, 25,000, and silk stockings, 50,000.

A man would pay at least 1,200,000 rubles for a suit of the poorest cloth; 100,000 for a shirt, and 25,000 to 30,000 for a tie.

It is characteristic of present-day Russia that while essential articles are offered at exorbitant prices, comparative luxuries are really cheap.

About a dozen shops reopen for business in Moscow daily, displaying every article from a needle to French perfume. One shop, the windows of which are elaborately decorated, even boasts an American safety razor, priced at 140,000 rubles.

As regards food, prices are regulated largely by supply and demand, as in other countries, and because of the shortage of many articles, prices are unusually high. In fact,

many people cannot afford to pay them.

Fruit is about the only thing that is fairly plentiful. Ham, being very scarce, brings 18,000 rubles a Russian pound—about nine-tenths of an American pound—for the fresh variety, and 25,000 to 30,000 for smoked.

Lamb chops are about the cheapest of all meats, selling for 9,000.

A chicken, weighing three fund, or a duck, weighing four fund, brings 35,000 rubles. Butter sells at 25,000 to 28,000; cheese, 25,000; milk, 2,000 a krushka—a little less than a pint; eggs, 12,000 for ten.

Fish is one of the most important of Russian foods. Herring bring from 1,500 to 7,000 rubles apiece, and salmon, 20,000.

THE AMERICAN VALUATION PLAN

Some idea of how prices to the consumer on many articles of merchandise will be increased if the American valuation clause of the pending Fordney tariff bill is enacted is shown in a statement just issued by the National Retail Dry Goods association. According to the association's statement gingham dress goods made in England and used here in tremendous quantities which now can be sold at retail at 69 cents a yard will by simple passing of the American valuation plan be increased to 92 cents a yard. Cotton novelty voiles made in France and sold in this country at $1.42 a yard will be increased by American valuation so that they would have to sell at $1.88 a yard. Woolen dress goods manufactured in England and sold at retail at about $4.04 under American valuation would have to be sold at $4.92. Although linens are not manufactured in the United States the American valuation plan would increase the cost of a 71x72 linen table cloth made in Ireland from $6.96, the present selling price in the United States, to $8.07.

American valuation will be felt in a wide variety of lines of merchandise. A decorated china dinner set made in France which can be sold in the United States at retail at $93.72 will have to be sold at $126.45. These are typical examples of how American valuation will increase the cost of goods to consumers and it is from this standpoint that the National Retail Dry Goods association is chiefly opposed to the American valuation proposal. The retailers take the stand that nothing should be done at this time which will increase prices. The public is eager to see prices reduced and if American valuation should become law the retailers feel that the public would blame the retailer for the increase in prices which they are sure would result.

One point upon which the merchants place considerable emphasis is the fact that American valuation will tend to take away the foreign market for American agricultural products. In this connection it is noted that in the month of August, 1921, the United States exported 58,500,000 bushels of wheat. This is regarded as an indication of the fact that despite the great industrial development of the United States the backbone of the country's prosperity is the farmers. With Europe lacking gold with which to buy American agricultural products this great market for the American farmer would be taken away unless the United States is willing to purchase reasonable amounts of the products of European industry.

It is fair to assume that the Fordney valuation plan will reduce importation of foreign goods, and to that extent will retard it, to the detriment of the farmers, miners, cotton growers. Trade with Europe cannot be one-sided. Before Europe can buy from us again, they must sell us. There are gross inequalities in the Fordney plan, for it will make unduly expensive a large number of articles of common use without any compensating protection or benefit to American industry. It will aggravate foreign exchange depreciation, will operate to prevent international exchange of raw materials and certainly discriminates against the farmers and laborers. It is unscientific because it will reduce foreign buying to guess work. So far as tariff laws affect prosperity, this phase of the bill may be expected to delay a return to normal conditions. Sound business judgment of the country is overwhelmingly against the American valuation plan and it ought to be stricken from the Fordney bill.

SOLDIERS NEARING END OF LONGEST HIKE

The Sixth Infantry Regiment is marching from Columbia, S. C. to St. Louis, where it will be interned in Jefferson barracks. The hike is approximately 900 miles, and officers of the United States army say that it is the longest ever made by a troop of soldiers in this country, and, in all probability, the longest continuous march ever made by infantry anywhere.

There are 700 men and 300 animals in the force. The rest of the regiment were left in Columbia to do guard duty until they are relieved. The soldiers have been going forward at an average sustained movement of eighteen miles a day. They have camped in county fair grounds in Georgia, Tennessee, Kentucky and Illinois. They will arrive in St. Louis on the morning of November 3 and take part in the Poch-Pershing parade.

According to Col. Hunter B. Nelson, the journey has been of educational benefit to the soldiers and the public. Although the greatest war in the world's history has been concluded but a short time, he says thousands of persons in the states traversed had never seen troops on the march or encamped, and it was a novel experience for the infantrymen to mingle with the people.

It is the picturesque, as well as romantic, aspect of the war which has appealed to the imagination of the nations and kept bright the glamor of militarism. For the moment the horrors, griefs and cost of war may be forgotten in the vision of the soaring Stars and Stripes and the rhythmic cadence of the marchers. It is a scene that stirs our patriotism. But our calm judgment cautions us that war is blood and sacrifice.

THE AFFECTS OF ISOLATION

Things of importance have been going on in Europe recently and they have not escaped the attention of American observers. We have seen the Wirth ministry fall in Germany, we have seen the war clouds gather in the Balkans, we have seen the heroic if foolhardy attempt of the Hapsburgs to regain control of Hungary—an attempt which was almost successful. All of these developments tend to accentuate the disorganized state of Europe and to increase its political and social turmoil.

This situation exists in the absence of American participation in the Versailles peace treaty and of American membership in the League of Nations. Whether it has been promoted by our failure to support the allies in the making of peace and in the great undertaking originated for the preservation and enforcement of future peace, can only be a matter of opinion. It must be admitted, however, that the after-effects of the war could hardly be more deplorable than they are today. Much of what has been going on lately in Europe is a symbol of the old Europe. This is particularly true in the upheaval in Hungary and the disturbances in southern Europe. It may have something to do with the economic and political crisis in Germany.

When the United States withdrew from the allies after the war it not only turned Europe loose on its own resources, but left it to the mercy of reactionary forces that had for their purpose an undoing of what Christian civilization regarded as the great achievements of the war. We believe it is a reasonable supposition, which can be supported by innumerable facts as well as by logic, that had the United States assumed its full war responsibilities in their relation to Europe and the world in general, instead of attempting to isolate itself and renounce its obligations, there would today be a different story to tell. There has not been a single circumstance or a single fact to confirm the wisdom of that policy which lead us to withdraw from consideration of the world problems entailed by the war. On the contrary every development has served to emphasize the mistake and the disastrous consequences of that policy.

"UPON ALL PLEASANT PICTURES"

"Teach it by movies" is a growing cry among teachers, and the screen as an educational factor seems destined to come rapidly into its own. In no department has the film greater potential value than as an international agent. It is one nation understanding another's life and ideals. The freak film may be quite innocent at home and yet be far from harmless abroad. It does not help understanding of America in Europe to suggest, for instance, that all Americans are rolling in money, which they spend exclusively in cabarets. Films representing normal family life and normal pleasures, films that emphasize the likeness to other nations and not peculiarities, are the sort of thing America should send abroad and hope to receive from other nations. Few things can do more than such use of films to remove these popular prejudices that promote war.

The task of making films good international educators is extremely delicate. It requires a delicate and a quick brain and wide knowledge. When an American film character looks a postage stamp in mailing a letter it discredits Americans in Latin America. No nice Latin American looks a stamp. In Japan the American kiss is viewed with alarm. Films need translation for foreign markets as much as books do, and the task is even more important because of their wider circulation.—Chicago News (Ind.)

JUST WHAT IS VITAMIN?

I don't know just what a vitamin is. Science has not yet determined the physical or chemical nature of this newly discovered food accessory, but we know that certain foods contain these factors, and other foods do not, and unless the diet includes foods which contain vitamins grave nutritional disorders are inevitable, no matter how rich and plentiful the food may be in ordinary respects. How do we know all this, if no one has yet identified vitamins chemically or physically? By experiments in animal feeding and by the application of the valuable results of these experiments to infant feeding. Here is another instance of the great value to mankind of animal experimentation. If one were trying to raise white rats or pink rabbits to sell, and one observed that young animals fed with fresh raw milk and fresh green leaves thrived and grew rapidly, whereas other groups fed sterilized or pasteurized milk or dried hay and dried leaves did not thrive or grow normally then one would begin to suspect that something which is present in fresh milk and fresh green leaves must be absent from preserved milk and dried fodder. Some such experiments taught us that these unidentified accessory food factors called vitamins exist.

Again let me quote part of the conclusion reached by the Lister Institute and Medical Research Committee which conducted a very thorough investigation into the question of vitamins:

"... the individual always finds a sufficient supply of vitamins in his food so long as that food is reasonably varied and has received no artificial or accidental separation into parts, and so long as no destructive influence has been applied to it."

What does "reasonably varied" imply? Well, for a regular meal at least one fresh vegetable or green or a relish which may be sterilized or pasteurized, but pure and raw; either fresh eggs or fresh meat or fish or game or fowl; baked or stewed or raw fresh fruit when in season.

What does "destructive influence" mean? Heating for more than a few minutes even at the moderate high temperature required to pasteurize (140 degrees Fahrenheit) or milling processes which remove the outer coating or germ of the wheat, or sterilization or desiccation of substances in the presence of oxygen (there is good evidence that foods desiccated or dried in vacuum are not robbed of their vitamin content); the common home canning of foods; most factory methods of preservation which do not exclude oxygen.

In a former talk I mentioned the three classes of vitamins—fat soluble A, the factor which prevents rickets and probably favors normal growth in the young; water soluble B, the factor which prevents beriberi in the tropics (acute multiple neuritis); and a third class, which probably prevents scurvy. Fresh butter, fresh eggs, fresh milk, liver, fresh raw cabbage, lettuce, cooked spinach, cod liver oil, are particularly rich in fat soluble A. Liver, fresh eggs, wheat-germ, peas, nuts and yeast are particularly rich in water soluble B. Fresh raw cabbage, swede, lemon juice, orange juice, lime juice and tomato juice, are rich in the scurvy preventing vitamin.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Dandruff

What is a suitable remedy for dandruff, and how should it be used? (J. W. E.)

Answer—Part the hair here and there and rub well into the scalp with the finger tips a small amount of the following ointment, taking pains to keep it off the hair itself where it does no good, and going over perhaps one-fourth of the scalp each evening in this way for six evenings, and shampoo the scalp instead on the seventh. Continue for alternate evenings for a month is sufficient.

Precipitated sulphur, 1 dram.
Salicylic acid, 10 grains.
Ointment of Rose Water, enough to make one ounce.

For persons with an insuperable objection to the use of an ointment—which gives the most satisfactory results, however—this liquid substitute may be used:

Resorcin, 10 grains.
Salicylic acid, 10 grains.
Bay rum, enough to make one ounce.

Resorcin has one drawback for those with very light or gray hair—it may stain such hair yellowish. If this solution leaves the scalp too dry, about five drops of castor oil may be added.

Night Sweats

Are night sweats a forerunner of tuberculosis? (L. F. E. A.)

Answer—No. Sometimes persons with advanced tuberculosis and secondary infection producing septic fever have night sweats.

Botulism in Canned Foods

What causes botulism in canned foods such as corn, and can one tell on opening a can whether it is so affected? (Mrs. F. B.)

Answer—Contamination of the food before canning by the bacillus botulinus. Generally the food looks, tastes or smells a little "queer" when opened.

Twenty-Five Years Ago

Thursday, Oct. 25, 1896

Joseph Spitz went to Chicago on a business trip. P. B. Hammel of Kaukauna was visiting Appleton relatives.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Weinfeld.

Burglars entered a tailor shop at Chilton the night previous and made away with several suits of clothes.

The first tournament of the series to be given by the Appleton Skat club was held at Harmonie hall the evening previous. The prizes were won by Anton Fischer, C. A. Green and G. T. Moeckes in the order named.

The school tax levy in the various school districts was: First district, $7,000; Second, $22,100; Third, $11,655; Fourth, $7,500.

Two little children of John Reiter were playing with a dull axe, when the little boy let the axe fall upon the hand of his little sister, necessitating the amputation of one of the fingers.

Alfred Caplin, Jacob Kober of Appleton and D. J. Brothers of Kaukauna, indigent soldiers commission, distributed $500 among 80 applicants. It was a quarterly distribution and the last of the year.

The ladies of the Methodist church had arranged for election returns to be placed on a blackboard in their "old country store" on election night. Super and lunches were to be served until midnight.

The drygoods stock of G. W. Spaniolis & Co. was sold to Mrs. E. E. Harrington for $10,500, about $2,000 less than the mortgages.

St. Joseph parish was holding a fair at St. Joseph hall which was to continue until the end of the week.

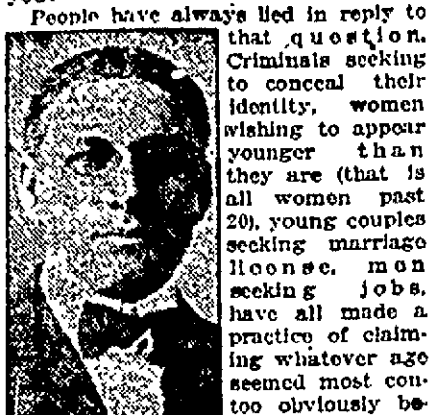

Martin Hendricks, 38, landlord of the Outagamie house, died the evening previous.

Columbus, fame lies in the fact that he was the first man to grasp the advertising value in newspapers. America first.—PHILADELPHIA NORTH AMERICAN.

Seeing Through People

By Frederic J. Haskin

Washington, D. C. — How old are you?

Haskin

Young boys wanting to be soldiers and soldiers claim to be older than they are. Professional athletes frequently claim to be younger. The list might be lengthened indefinitely.

Well, science has found a new age test, which will make it much harder for any one, who can be subjected to a bit of adhesive, to conceal his age. This scientific test was first used quite recently in connection with Chinese immigration. According to the law Chinese fathers in this country may bring in sons under 21. Now a Chinaman's age is the hardest thing in the world for an accidental to guess. The Chinese father is a slow changer of countenance. A Chinaman of 20 often looks almost like one of 40. So that a horde of sons claiming to be under 21 were pouring into this country, and no one could successfully dispute the claim—until the X-ray was turned upon the problem.

The doctor who tells the story explained that age can be determined to a considerable extent by looking at the bones of the individual with the X-ray.

The doctor added that X-rays might be used to advantage in other connections to determine age. For instance, he suggested that it might be employed in issuing marriage licenses when the couple appears to be of uncertain maturity. And if women ever become eager to vote that they really are, it might be used to test their claims.

Dangerous to Handle

The specialist who told this story went on to recount some interesting experiences in his field of medicine. The life of an X-ray surgeon is a slow changer of countenance. The rays and exposure to them is apt to result in cancer or terrible burns. Danger from burns is less now as the doctors have learned better how to handle the rays. But surgeons still give their lives, because the powerful rays that destroy diseased tissue so thoroughly also prey on healthy tissues.

Knowledge of the dangers to be expected, however, does not seem to deter doctors from entering this field of medicine. Much experimental work is being conducted to increase the uses to which X-rays can be put. Regardless of themselves, surgeons are eagerly testing new possibilities of X-rays to diagnose internal troubles such as tuberculosis, and to cure diseases benefited by the more expensive radium.

But the surgeon's life has its lighter side. And this doctor chose to dwell on it.

"I have learned to tell a married woman from a single one," he said. "It is very simple. When a patient comes into my office to have X-ray pictures made of her teeth I have to pose her. It is important that the head be tilted exactly. And to get this proper angle, I must take the head in my hands and turn it. Single women have stiff necks. Married women are very pliable."

The doctor is continuing his treatment, but he is chiefly interested in knowing how long the immunity is going to last.

THE QUESTION BOX

Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing The Appleton Post-Crescent, Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. This offer applies strictly to information. The Bureau cannot give advice on legal, medicinal, and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles, nor to undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Write your question plainly and enclose full name and address and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. All replies are sent direct to the inquirer.

Q. Where can the most equable year-round temperature be found in the eastern part of the country?

A. Such conditions are found near the seacoast toward the South. The places of least change of temperature are the small islands off the Florida coast.

Q. What American war vessel first went around the world? D. L.

A. Some authorities give credit to the U. S. S. Vincennes, a sailing frigate, as first circumnavigating the globe making the trip in 1823-1826. Other authorities credit the United States sailing frigate Potomac, which made a continuous cruise around the world from 1821-1824.

Q. In what parts of the country is the hard hack tree found? A. W. F.

A. The hard hack tree is found from Maine to Minnesota and south to Florida. This tree is also known as the hornbeam tree.

Q. Where did Angola crabs come from and who brought them to this country? U. N.

A. Angoras are traced to a distinctive breed that was known even in the days of Abraham. They are native to Angola in Asia Minor, and were brought to the United States by Dr. James R. Davis of Columbia, South Carolina, in 1849.

Q. How long does it take to get a copyright? F. T. K.

A. The Copyright Office says that it takes about two days to put through a copyright in this country.

Q. When, where and by whom was the first bank in the United States organized? H. W. J.

A. The first bank in the United States was the bank of North America in Philadelphia. It was chartered by the Continental Congress on December 21, 1781. As originally established, it was the idea of Robert Morris. This bank is still in existence and is located at 307 Chestnut St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Q. I wish to send some acorns to France. How long should they be dried? G. C. J.

A. The forestry service says it is not necessary to dry acorns as they have a natural process of drying themselves. Before shipping, be sure that any acorns which are sprouting are thrown out.

Q. What variety of strawberry was first grown for commercial use in the United States? D. S. N.

A. The Large Early Scarlet was the least variety of strawberry grown from the beginning of commercial strawberry growing about 1800 until about 1850. As this variety was too soft to ship to distant markets, other varieties suitable to various climatic conditions have been placed it.

Q. How much is a metric ton? V. T.

A. A metric ton is 1,000 kilograms, which equals 2,204.6 pounds.

Q. Why are certain cats called heretics? T. P.

A. This style of cat was named for its inventor, Peter Herdic.

Q. Which of Browning's books was the last one published before he died? A. W. Y.

A. "Asolando: Fancies and Facts," a volume of poems, was published on the day of the death of Robert Browning, December 12, 1882.

Q. What causes rust? F. B.

A. The Bureau of Mines says that rusting is due to condensation of moisture in the atmosphere on a cool surface.

A Resume of American Newspaper Opinion

Outlawing the Kansas Mine Leader

"If it were nothing more than a contest within the union, the matter would have little public interest, but the fact that the International is standing for a principle, in opposing Howat, upon which is based the right of all labor unions to exist, makes the matter one of public concern," comments the HOUSTON POST (Dem.), upon the action of John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, in suspending Alexander Howat from office.

The principle involved as state by Lewis, that of the sacredness of contractual obligations, is lost sight of in the discussion by some of the papers, which view the incident rather from the angle of union organization and to the union organization.

"Howat is not only in open rebellion against the civil authorities of Kansas, and is now in jail for refusing to obey the Kansas industrial law, but is in revolt against his own international union as well," says the SCRANTON TIMES (Dem.), while the ROCHESTER DEMOCRAT (Rep.) thinks "replacing Howat as head of the miners shows that the industrial court has the respect of the higher union officials." The GRAND RAPIDS HERALD (Rep.) says "Lewis saw clearly that if American Labor is to sanction law violation and demand immunity for violators unionism's life would be shortened," and he took the bit in his mouth and defied not only Howat but Howat's thousands of followers by ousting him from office.

This was a measure of self-defense unionism is implied in the comment of the WICHITA BEACON (Ind.) that "any denial of Lewis's authority at this time is a denial of the power of the American Federation and the cause of organized labor in America," and of the KANSAS CITY JOURNAL (Rep.) that "Howat's position is a denial of the power of the American Federation and the cause of organized labor in America."

"They are striking for no economic reason, but to show disapproval of the industrial court and its decisions. Unless the State of Kansas is ready to take over all business within its borders, guaranteeing profits and wages, it is in no position to enforce decisions concerning profits and wages by fines and jail sentences," says the HARTFORD TIMES (Dem.), on the other hand, thinks that "Kansas has devised the most practical means yet developed in America to handle strikes that affect the convenience and security of the people," and that Howat "is in jail, where he belongs," for violating the court's decision. The WHEELING REGISTER (Dem.) feels that the "outcome of the fight is unusually interesting because of the Kansas industrial court, which, although a great success so far, must still be considered in its experimental stages." The circumstances in Kansas are "peculiar," admits the PHILADELPHIA BULLETIN (Ind. Rep.), "but the fact that the International Mine Workers' Union is willing to 'outlaw' a strike which professes to be a challenge to the Kansas law and its Industrial Court and a martyrdom for the 'right to strike' is significant of a new attitude on the part of organized labor."

The main line of comment, however, may be summed up as an endorsement of the face value of President Lewis's defense of "the principles of fair dealing among men."

It places the whole question "on a high moral ground and, if the facts are true, contains an argument that is unanswerable," says the MOBILE REGISTER (Dem.), in line with the NEW YORK TIMES (Ind. Dem.), which labels President Lewis's statement as "honest unionism," and the NEWARK NEWS (Ind.), which says "this insistence by the international that unions in districts must live up to the letter of their obligations is the kind of talk the country likes to hear."

The TOPKA CAPITAL (Rep.) states that the "issue that President Lewis has raised of treachery and of a dishonored contract is one on which good citizenship can take only the stand," and the TERRE HAUTE STAR (Ind.) is of the opinion that his action will bring "power and influence to organized labor." "The issue in the Howat controversy," states the KANSAS CITY TIMES (Ind.), "is that of the honor of organized labor," while the HOUSTON CHRONICLE (Ind.) thinks "organized labor should be proud of John L. Lewis. He has taken a courageous stand for good faith, for obedience to law, for straightforward, manly unionism."

Solve Housing Problem in Odd Moments

Brussels, Belgium—A Brussels paper—the INDEPENDANCE BELGE—comments approvingly on the recent experiment of a group of American workmen who used their leisure time to build houses for themselves, thus solving their housing problem. The paper suggests that such use of leisure is the best justification of the eight-hour day.

"The application of the law for an eight hour day will give an aftermath of reality to the question of the workingman's leisure. For that is the immediate consequence of the shorter working hours; idleness being according to the saying, the mother of all vices, it may be feared that the workingman placed in a position of relative idleness, may spend their time in 'pleasures' hurtful either to their moral or their physical health—and their family budget."

"We know that many projects are being studied, but although many excellent propositions have been made nothing has yet been realized."

"But now the United States sends us information which may perhaps interest the members of different 'leisure committees' and what would be better still the workmen themselves."

"But now the United States sends us information which may perhaps interest the members of different 'leisure committees' and what would be better still the workmen themselves."

"A group of twenty-eight workmen at the naval docks in the United States noticed that there were among them carpenters, plasterers, and other skilled workmen, so they decided to buy between them a large piece of land which they divided into twenty-eight plots. Then divided again into three groups these men started to build their own houses. In this way twenty-eight houses were soon built. Each one brought his work and his knowledge; and on the whole they saved nearly fifty per cent on the current cost of construction."

"This is nothing very extraordinary, but at least it had to be thought of. Here are a number of workmen owners of their homes at little cost. For them the housing problem is solved. From an economical and social point of view this is of no small interest."

"There is indeed in this fact a lesson which exceeds the usefulness of the operation: first of all the example of the practical cooperation of these men; and then the evident proof that when their working day is finished they have not only the one exclusive desire to rest, as is so often maintained. On the contrary the wish to better their situation very often dominates; for in the case mentioned it was after their day's work that the American workmen built these houses."

Carlton Stowe Weds

In mentioning the marriage of a former Appleton young man, and a niece of one of its former merchants, D. B. Bailey, who has visited Appleton on several occasions, the Evening Reporter Star of Orlando, Fla., says:

"On October 6 Mr. Carlton Stowe, of Orlando, was married to Miss Marjorie Hoffman, of California, the ceremony taking place at the home of the bride in Pasadena, California.

"Mr. Stowe is a well-known young business man of Orlando, now being connected with the Reporter-Star as chief of its auditing department, and is very popular among all who know him while the bride is as charming and fresh as the roses of her native state, and was beloved by all her associates, so that Orlando is to be congratulated in so charming an addition to its social circle.

"The young couple reached Orlando yesterday and will at once go to housekeeping at their lovely newly completed home on Bradshaw Terrace. Mr. Stowe is receiving the congratulations of all his friends."

Surprise Party

Mrs. Paul Miller was surprised by a group of friends at her home at Lonsome Hurst Monday evening in honor of her birthday anniversary. Music and dancing provided entertainment. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. William Schuelke and family of Shawano, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Lachin and family, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Meyer and family, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Meyer and family, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Schnoll and son, Mrs. Huelgel, Mathilde Niel, Gustave Piel, Eleanor and Leola Lauston, Walter Yokum, Vivian and Clarence Creighton. Music was furnished by Paul and Edward Miller.

Miss Holz Weds

Miss Viola Holz and William Uhlenbrauck of Center were married at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning at the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Augusta Wirth, 1039 Parkhurst-st., Appleton. The ceremony was read by the Rev. H. P. Jordan.

The couple was attended by Miss Alice Holz and Dewey Thiel of Greenville.

The bride wore brown satin crepe. The bridesmaid was dressed in brown tulle and both carried bouquets of roses and daisies.

In the afternoon the young people left for a wedding trip to Milwaukee.

Honeymoon in East

N. L. Simon, secretary and treasurer of the N. Simon Cheese Co., and bride, formerly Miss Georgiana Sherman of Chicago, are spending their honeymoon at New York and Montreal, Canada. They were married Saturday, Oct. 22, at the Edgewater Presbyterian church, Chicago by Dr. Moore president of Lake Forest university. The double ring service united the couple in the presence of an assembly of relatives and friends. The home of the bride's parents at 5455 Sheridan road was filled with guests at the reception that followed.

Obligation Night

The Eastern Star held its first "obligation night" program Wednesday evening. This is something new that is being observed by all Eastern Star lodges and opened with a dinner at 6:30. The program was rendered by the officers and included several selections by a quartet consisting of Mrs. Marie Boehm, Miss Irene Bidwell, Clement Hackworthy and Fred Wheeler. Nearly all neighboring cities were represented. Wednesday evening, Nov. 9, a 6:30 o'clock dinner will be served which will be followed by the initiation of a class of candidates.

Surprise Shower

Mrs. Wenzel Blob and Mrs. Nick Greene entertained 40 guests at a miscellaneous surprise shower Wednesday evening in honor of Miss Veronica Blob at the Blob home, 853 Jefferson-st. Miss Blob is to be married in November to Joseph Guilfoyle, Yakutana. Music, games and dancing were enjoyed and lunch was served. Prizes at schaffkopf were won by Joseph Blob, Jr., and Mrs. Anton Halbermann; at plumpack by Mrs. Harry Hove and Miss Catherine Blob.

Eagle Ladies Plan Party

At their meeting Wednesday afternoon the ladies of the Eagles decided to give an open party at Eagle hall next Wednesday afternoon, and their first evening party of the season Friday, Nov. 4. The business session, attended by 26 ladies, was followed by cards. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. John Duvall, Mrs. H. Luebben, Mrs. William Jens and Mrs. N. A. Gmelner.

Dance At Menasha

The ladies of the Community club of Menasha gave a dance in S. A. Cook armory Wednesday evening that was attended by 100 couples. The grand march which took place shortly before 10 o'clock was led by Prof. Grant of Appleton. Quite a large delegation was present from this city. Music was furnished by the Valley Country club orchestra.

Party for Miss Peeters

MRS. HAYDOCK SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

Followed Advice of Her Druggist's Wife and Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Chicago, Ill.—"I was in bed with a female trouble and inflammation and had four doctors but none of them did me any good. They all said I would have to have an operation. A druggist's wife told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I took 22 bottles, never missing a dose and at the end of that time I was perfectly well. I have six more children and all my work. My two sisters are taking the Compound upon my recommendation and you may publish my letter. It is the gospel truth and I will write to anyone who wants a personal letter."

Mrs. E. H. Haydock, 6824 St. Lawrence Avenue, Chicago, Ill.

Because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved Mrs. Haydock from an operation we cannot claim that all operations may be avoided by it, but many women have escaped operations by the timely use of this old fashioned root and herb medicine.

Cure Your Own Hams

Many persons like to cure a ham and shoulder and several places themselves. Most butchers have their own arrangements for smoking meats and are willing to look after smoking meat for their customers. It's really very little trouble to cure the meat and home-cured ham is like a vegetable from "our own garden."

To Sugar Cure Ham or Bacon

Five pounds salt, 5 ounces pepper, 1 ounce salt petre, 1 pint molasses. This rule will cure 100 pounds of pork.

Rub about 1 tablespoon table salt around the bone of the hams and shoulders. Then rub well with molasses. Mix salt, pepper and salt petre, thoroughly and rub on the meat. Use about one-third the first time and let stand three days. Rub again at the end of the next three days, making three rubbings in all. Let stand in a cool, dry place for from four to six weeks. Then have smoked. While this does away with fussing with a brine, it's sort of unpleasant rubbing

Polzin-Meyers Wedding

Miss Olga Polzin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Polzin, Second ave., became the bride of Arthur Meyers, son of Mrs. Ida Meyers Menasha, at a pretty ceremony at the Polzin home at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon. The Rev. A. Jahnke officiated at the service.

The young couple was attended by Miss Rosella Meyers, Miss Nora Polzin, Edward Meyers and Alfred Polzin. The bride wore dress of navy blue tulle and carried a shower bouquet of chrysanthemums and roses, while her attendants were dressed in navy blue tulle dresses and wore corsage bouquets.

A reception and dinner for about 75 guests followed the ceremony. The Polzin home was prettily decorated with autumn foliage. Mr. and Mrs. Meyers will live in the town of Harrison.

Two Complaints

The next day Sprinkle-Blow's telephone rang again. Nick answered it and heard Chris Crow's voice. "I wish you'd change my order for no moon," croaked Chris dimly. "Why?" asked Nick. "What's wrong?" We had Mr. West Wind and Mr. Moon send the darkest night they could find. Didn't you get any corn?"

"Corn?" squawked Chris. "About as much corn as there is on a door knob! Whadda you think? Just as I was fixed to eat my fill didn't that old Scare-Crow slip up on me! Jumped up on the corn-stalk where I was sitting, mind you! Came right at me! I was so scared I fell plumb right down on top of his head. It was quite two seconds before I recovered my senses enough to fly away. No more dark nights for me! Will you please tell Mr. Sprinkle-Blow to send Mr. Moon. If I've got to be spied on I want to know who it is."

"All right, Mr. Crow, I'll tell him," answered Nick. But scarcely had he rung off when the bell rang again. It was Cob Coon this time. "I want to change my order," said Cob. "I want to change it like everything. No more dark nights, if you please. I'd like Mr. Moon and Mr. Sun and all the stars to shine, as well as the Milky Way."

"Why?" asked Nick. "Because last night in the cornfield, just as I was climbing a big stalk to get some juicy corn, something black was there waiting for

THE STAGE

Western Girl is Star

Marjorie Daw, the dainty heroine of Maurice Tourneur's super production "The Great Redeemer," at the Appleton Theatre, was born in the country "out where the West begins" and as such is well able to depict the western type girl that she portrays in "The Great Redeemer."

Miss Daw started her screen career with Universal. This, however, was after she had attended Westlake School in Colorado Springs, her birthplace. Following Miss Daw's venture into the films under the Universal banner, she joined the Lasky forces, appearing in "Joan, the Woman." She next appeared in the Arden productions, "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," "Arizona," "A Modern Musketeer," "He Comes Up Smiling," "Bound in Morocco," "Mr. Fix-it," and "Say Young Fellow."

TOMAH ELECTRIC RATES REDUCED 17 PER CENT

Madison—Deduction in electric rates amounting to 17 per cent was ordered by the Railroad commission for the Tomah Electric Light and Power company. This is the first cut in electric rates ordered by the commission since the rate started during the war period. Cuts have now been made in both electric and gas charges and it is expected the commission will proceed with its orders bringing about lower costs for public utility services.

Home-made, but Has No Equal for Coughs

Makes a family supply of really dependable cough medicine. Easily prepared, and saves about 75¢.

If you have a severe cough or chest cold accompanied with soreness, throat tickle, hoarseness, or difficulty breathing, or if your child wakes up during the night with a cough and you want quick help, try this reliable old home-made cough remedy. Any drug-gist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. This recipe makes a pint of really remarkable cough remedy. It tastes good, and in spite of its low cost, it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that most medicines, if loosens and raises the phlegm, rouses throat tickle and soothes and heals the irritated membranes that line the throat and bronchial tubes with such promptness, ease and certainty that it is really astonishing. Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is probably the best known means of overcoming severe coughs, throat and chest colds. There are many worthless imitations of this mixture. To avoid disappointment, ask for ½ ounce of Pinex with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Once Famed Dancer Now Broken Moth

New York—In the Brunswick Home at Amityville, L. I., a moth with wings broken and singed with futile beating against the dazzling lights of Broadway is dying.

One doesn't have to be an old-timer to remember the clever dancing and singing soubrette, Edith St. Clair, featured with "The White Cat," "Mother Goose" and "The Great Moth."

Few women in America have had more first-page stories than this forgotten favorite. For a suit brought by her against a famous manager for breach of contract thrust her into publicity.

After the trial she sought positions in vain. Then she broke both kneecaps in a fall.

"Last year," said Edith St. Clair, a strangely changed creature in her wheeled chair, from the once charming and graceful dancing soubrette, "a friend found me in the Home for Incurables, penniless."

"She interested her friends and without any publicity, raised a temporary fund."

"When I knew that Blanche Bates, Marjorie Rambeau, Anne Sutherland, Wm. Courtney and others, as well as several companies replied to the plea, just knowing that they remembered me, was happiness."

"Then the Actor's Fund was interested in me and brought me here." "For those who look for the ironic law of contrasts, Edith St. Clair began her stage career in a play called "A Round of Pleasure."

50,000 TO LOSE JOBS IF NATIONS DECIDE TO DISARM

American Federation of Labor Prepares to Transfer Men to Other Jobs

By Norris Quinn
Special to Post-Crescent

Washington—Fifty thousand civilian munitions workers will find themselves without jobs if the November conference on limitation of armaments succeeds in halting battleship and ordnance construction in the United States.

The American Federation of Labor is considering plans to effect their reemployment in peaceful industries.

Social Dances, Eagle's Hall, Saturdays 8 p. m. to 12 p. m. Opening Saturday, Oct. 29. Hear the Ragopators. Admission: Gentlemen 75c, including tax. Ladies 35c. Dancing lessons every Tuesday and Thursday. Guarantee Dancing School, Prof. G. E. and L. W. Grant, managers and instructors.

This will be one of the biggest problems facing the labor advisory disarmament committee when it starts activities here late this month.

Between 10,000 and 15,000 men are employed continually by the navy ordnance department in making naval guns and ammunition, manufacturing torpedoes and filling shells.

The army ordnance department employs 6164 civilians in making coast and field artillery and ammunition and accessories, as gun carriages and ammunition hampers.

But the government manufactures only a small part of its arms and ammunition. The greater part of this work is done under contract by big private corporations.

Most important among private arms purveyors are the Bethlehem, Carnegie and Midvale Steel Corporations.

No accurate figures are available on the number of men employed solely in munition manufacture by these corporations, but estimates place it well over 25,000.

The American Federation of Labor has pledged full support to President Harding's conference. Now the munitions workers are reproaching the federation.

So the federation is trying to work out a program that will conciliate the munitions workers and at the same time hold to labor's traditional stand on disarmament.

Easy For Thin People to Put on Flesh and Gain Weight

It's such an easy matter nowadays for thin, weak, scrawny people to put on good healthy, solid flesh and become plump and graceful that one often wonders why there are still so many people who seem to prefer to be "all skin and bone", ungainly and unpleasant to look upon.

Physicians have long known that whoever could discover a remedy that would cause the food that one puts in to the stomach to turn into good, rich flesh-making blood instead of going to waste, would also discover how to put healthy muscular flesh onto thin, under-nourished people, and this has now been accomplished.

If you are thin, under developed, nervous, weak, or lack vigor and vitality, you can secure at any good pharmacy at moderate cost, a ten days' treatment of EVANS' TRIPLE PHOSPHATES, a new combination of flesh producing, muscle building, strength creating elements that is guaranteed to put good, solid, lasting flesh on your body, and to make you strong, healthy and vigorous, or money back.

Physicians who have watched the results of the Evans' Triple Phosphates treatment are astonished at its rapid action—often in a month five to ten pounds of desirable weight is gained. All druggists have agreed to supply readers of this paper with Evans' Triple Phosphates and to guarantee it to do just what is claimed for it or money refunded. adv.

A trapping license costs $2.50 this year which is $1 more than it cost a year ago.

Open season for muskrat in Outagamie co. will begin Nov. 1 and will close March 31. In Winnebago,

URGE OBSERVANCE OF ARMISTICE DAY

Superintendent C. E. Morgan Wants Schools to Prepare Programs

Armistice day will be observed with a fitting program in every public school in Appleton in response to an appeal received by Miss Carrie Morgan, superintendent of schools, from John Callahan, Madison, state superintendent of schools.

Mr. Callahan suggests exercises that will impress upon the students the historical importance of Nov. 11, 1918. He gives no set program but leaves it to each school to decide what should be done. It also is Mr. Callahan's idea to have the day observed each year in the future with as much ceremony as other eventful days in American history.

Miss Morgan had copies of Mr. Callahan's letter prepared and sent to each school with the suggestion that the suggestion be carried out. No thought has been given by the boards to making this a holiday or half holiday as has been suggested in other cities.

Will Be Publicist For Chinese At Arms Parley

Chung Shu Kwei, Lawrence Graduate, to Give His People Conference News

China's publicity at the coming disarmament conference in Washington Nov. 11 will be handled by a graduate of Lawrence college, Chung Shu Kwei, who as a graduate student of the University of Wisconsin has obtained a leave of absence so he can handle this work for his country.

Kwei has been asked by the Chinese Students alliance to head the Chinese editorial department and also to take charge of the China Advocate, an English newspaper to be published during the conference to set forth the unofficial views of Chinese community in the United States.

The publicity campaign is supported by Chinese students in America for purely patriotic motives, and the Chinese merchants in this country also are behind it. The work is in no way connected with the Chinese legation in Washington.

In their desire for freedom the Chinese people seek only justice at the conference, Kwei says. Such questions as the Shantung issue and the 21 Japanese demands of 1915 will form the center of discussion, and the facts are to be given the people. Deceitful by his sounding principles at the Versailles peace conference, the Chinese people, now less innocent than in 1914, will see that they are not deceived again and intend to make a desperate effort to have their case presented fairly and honestly, Kwei declares.

Kwei will leave for Washington the latter part of this week. He expects Clogged up Kidney Deposits are Dissolved and the Toxins (Poisons) Completely Driven Out. Druggists Told to Guarantee it in Every Instance.

"Your very life," says Dr. Carey, "depends upon the perfect functioning and health of your kidneys so whatever you do not neglect them."

Dr. Carey's famous prescription No. 777 known as Maarlem Oil is not recommended for everything, but we cannot too strongly urge its use if you suffer from annoying bladder troubles, frequent passing of water night and day, with smarting or irritation, brick dust sediment or highly colored urine, bleaching irritability with loss of flesh, backache, rheumatism or any other tendency to Bright's Disease, Diabetes or Gravel, for kidney disease in its worst form may be stealing upon you.

Don't wait until tomorrow to begin the use of this wonderful prescription if you have any of the above symptoms. Kidney and Bladder troubles don't wear away. They will grow upon you slowly, stealthily and with untiring certainty.

Never mind the failures of the past if you even suspect that you are subject to Kidney Disease, don't lose a single day for Schlitz Bros. Co. and every good druggist has been authorized to return the purchase money on the first two bottles to all who state they have received no benefit.

Lights and Shadows

Mr. A. P. Johnson, Publisher of the News, Grand Rapids, Michigan, in his issue of Oct. 13, prints the following:

PRODUCTIVE ADVERTISING

There are three "how-to" in the business of advertising. Where they came from we don't know and we know less of what they mean to us than we do of what they mean to the advertiser. They are: "How to get the most out of your advertising," "How to get the most out of your advertising," and "How to get the most out of your advertising." These are the three "how-to" in the business of advertising. They are the three "how-to" in the business of advertising. They are the three "how-to" in the business of advertising.

THE above editorial is refreshing to those who are responsible for the policies of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

When in October, 1918, the present management of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) took charge of the business, one of the first things it decided was that the public should be given intimate information regarding the Company and its affairs. Those responsible for the management knew that the policies that had animated this organization for many years were policies which benefitted stockholders, employees, and the public, and that these policies could not but meet the approval of the people generally, for they were based on fair dealing, justice and equity.

The result of this decision was the authorization of a widespread publicity campaign, which has been carried on for about three years, and the proof of its effectiveness is to be seen not only in the not infrequent mention being made by the newspapers of the country in editorials such as the one written by Mr. Johnson, quoted above, but in the better understanding on the part of the public of what the Company is trying to do.

The basic principle upon which the business of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is built is to provide the individual, wherever he may live in the 11 states served by this Company, with such products of petroleum as he may need, and to get them to him when he wants them and at a price which is fair alike to the stockholders, the public, and the competitor.

PREDICTS WAR IF CHINESE PROBLEM IS NOT SETTLED

Dr. A. H. Trevor Names Disarmament Problems Before Green Bay Kiwanians

A reduction of armament will depend upon the Japanese attitude toward the Chinese "open door" question. All other difficulties might be settled if the Chinese problem is settled; otherwise a war between the United States and Japan is as inevitable as the coming of night—as inevitable as the war of 1914, occasioned by the over-ambitious Germany.

This startling trend of international affairs was described by Dr. A. H. Trevor of Lawrence college in an address before the Kiwanis club of Green Bay at a dinner in Beaumont hotel when he spoke on the problem of disarmament.

"The crux of the international problem as it seems today is the commercial control of the Pacific," said Prof. Trevor. "There is a determined battle for this control in progress at the present moment and until a definite settlement is brought about the Pacific question is very serious."

Dr. Trevor is not optimistic about the outcome of the disarmament conference Nov. 11, believing that no definite agreements will be reached. He thought it ridiculous for United States to reduce insular fortifications in the Pacific while Japan maintained the largest standing army in the world.

"My prediction is that the disarmament conference will bring to the eyes of the world a clean understanding of the post-war military problem," the speaker declared. "Delegates will return home with all angles of the case fully before them. The world then will be able to study all questions involved."

WILL PAVE GAP IN STATE HIGHWAY 15

Milwaukee-co. Will Aid Washington-co. to Join Ends of Main Artery

Autoists may have Milwaukee-co. to thank for the paving of a gap of 7 1/2 miles in Washington-co. on the Milwaukee-Green Bay portion of state highway No. 15. This will be made possible by an appropriation of $50,000 which Milwaukee-co. intends to give its neighbor out of state aid funds.

Milwaukee-co., of which Milwaukee forms the greater part, has finished paving all its main highways, and is looking for other rough roads to conquer. The traffic which comes to the Cream City by way of highway 15 from the north, together with its commercial value, has led to a move to give its neighbor the $50,000 fund, with the hope that Washington-co. will furnish the remainder to pave the existing gap.

Should this be accomplished the dream of a continuous paved highway from Chicago to Green Bay will be consummated by the fall of 1922. With paving completed northward to Suamico, and south from Chicago to St. Louis, a 500-mile road offers an allurements to next year's tourists.

Paving on highway 15 in Fond du Lac-co. will be completed Oct. 22, according to state highway officials, after which autoists will have the use of this portion and need make no further detours. The Neenah-Oshkosh-concrete road also is opened all the way for use.

The Business of War Or the Business of Peace

One or the other must stop. One war has almost bankrupted the world.

With armaments piling up everywhere, more wars are in the making—for armament makes war as surely as clouds make rain.

You are paying for the war just past. Your taxes are intolerable. Are you also going to pay for the next war? If it comes taxes will be higher still. Are you willing to pay them?

War once involved only soldiers. Now it strikes into every family, taps every pocket. No one escapes. Civilization cannot afford war any longer.

This is not a pacifist theory. It is the deliberate conclusion of a committee of American business men who made a study of the world situation for the Chamber of Commerce of the United States from a business point of view.

HELPS MANUEL

As a result of the monarchist rebellion in Portugal, ex-King Manuel may regain the throne.

Manuel, who is now 32, has been living with his mother in England since the revolution of 1910, when he fled the country. He had been on the throne less than two years, having succeeded in 1908, when his father, King Carlos, and his elder brother were assassinated.

Manuel's reign was dotted with love affairs said to have been the real cause of his downfall. His affair with Gaby Deslys, noted dancer, gained him world-wide notoriety.

After abdication he married Princess Augustina Victoria of Hohenzollern. Her father, Prince William, is a cousin of the ex-kaiser.

ANNUAL MEETING OF SCHOOL BOARDS

School boards of Outagamie-co. will hold their annual convention at Seymour and Appleton Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

Tuesday's session will be held at the auditorium in Seymour and the following day at Eagle hall in Appleton. George S. Dick, of Madison, rural school supervisor of the state department of education, will speak at both sessions. County Superintendent Florence Jenkins will preside.

Sessions will begin at 10 o'clock in the morning. School clerks are required to attend the annual meeting.

West Visits Here

Major John West, of the adjutant general's office at Madison, who was injured a short time ago by a fall from a ladder, was in Appleton for several hours Tuesday. Ever since being incapacitated he has been at his home at Manitowish, but expects to be able to return to his duties at Madison within the next ten days.

2,000 Pound Simon Cheese On Exhibition In Chicago

The Fair store of Chicago is conducting a pure food exhibit. One of the features is a 2,000-pound cheese made by the N. Simon Cheese Co. of Appleton which is to be cut Saturday, Oct. 29. Mr. Kaiple, manager of the grocery department, in a letter to the manufacturers said the only mistake his firm made with the cheese is that orders for which it cannot begin to fill. During the season it made nearly 100, several of which it shipped to the state of New York, which until lately has had the reputation of making the best cheese in the country. The Clintonville plant has closed down for the season because of the fact that the cows are no longer exclusively pasture fed. The feeding of fodder detracts from the quality of the cheese and this is the means taken by the company to protect its reputation. The orders still come in.

Through a Chicago wholesale house the company shipped by express this week one of its largest cheeses to H. C. Weldrop of Newbern, N. C., who was willing to pay the extra charges in order to have it delivered promptly.

Goos Into Bankruptcy The A. Goldberg Department Store Co. of Antigo has been forced into involuntary bankruptcy according to an order of reference received by F. S. Bradford, referee, from the United States court of Milwaukee. The assets and liabilities are not known at present. The store is one of the largest of its kind in northern Wisconsin.

The N. Simon Cheese Co. is devoting its Clintonville plant exclusively to the manufacture of these mammoth cheeses for which it has a reputation all over the country and the

MOOSE CELEBRATE MOOSEHEART DAY

Two hundred people attended the "Mooseheart Day" celebration of Appleton lodge Loyal Order of Moose Tuesday evening. Members and their families participated in the event.

Mooseheart day ceremony opened with a program put on by officers of the lodge. This was followed by cards and dancing. Lunch was served at 10:30. After lunch, the Cooper family of Menasha entertained with novelty music from an orchestra of four pieces.

Although Thursday is national Mooseheart day, the lodge found it more convenient to celebrate on Tuesday. The day is celebrated on the anniversary of the birthday of James J. Davis, secretary of labor, founder of Mooseheart and now director-general of the order.

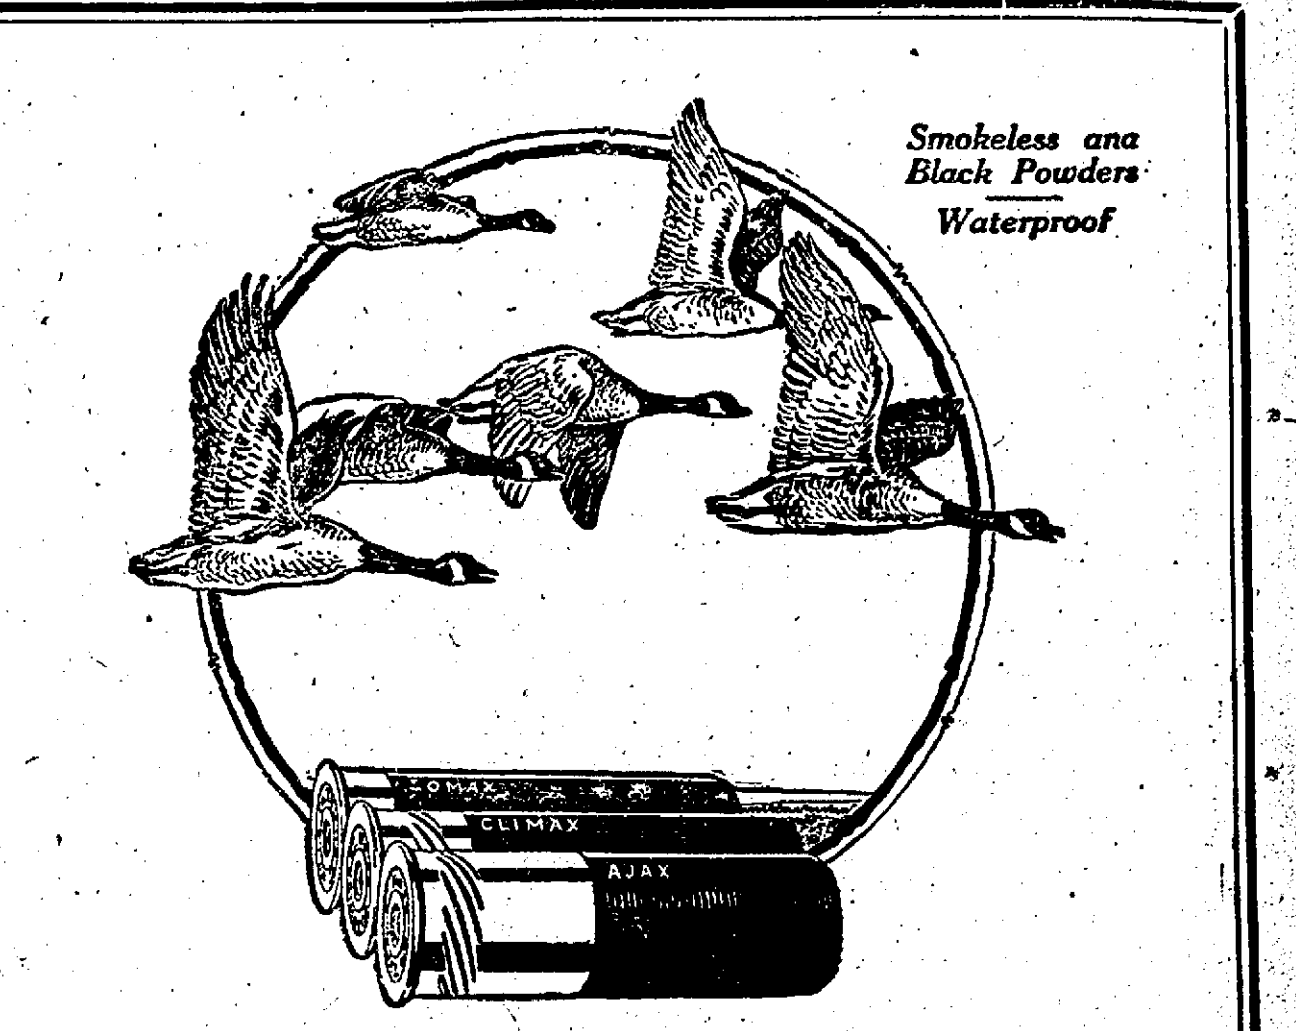

Next Wednesday night, the lodge will give a private Halloween dancing party. Invitations are being sent to members and their friends.

BREWING CO. SCOUTS MEDICINE BEER STORIES

The George Walters Brewing Co. is doing nothing concerning the manufacturing of beer for medicinal purposes and does not expect to do anything until it receives definite instructions from the government. All the company knows about the proposed plan is what it has read in newspaper reports. It intends to mark time until it has something more tangible to guide it. Nio Dohr, manager, is at present in California, but is expected home within the next few days.

Appeal To Town Boards To Repair Country Roads

Postmaster Keller Wants Rural Mail Patrons to Prepare for Winter

Urging rural people in the delivery district of Appleton postoffice to aid in making rural mail delivery better and more efficient, Postmaster Gustave Keller, appealed Thursday to town chairmen and farmers to improve roads mail carriers must travel before winter comes.

Mr. Keller, who has been inspecting rural delivery conditions during the last week, said:

"In going over the roads, I found there are quite a few stretches of road that need to be graded and put in shape before the roads freeze. Gravel is needed in many places.

"Brush and weeds fill the roadsides in many places. These hold snow and will make it practically impossible for the carriers or the farmers to get through when the big drifts form next winter. Now is the time for town chairmen and farmers to get busy and prepare the roads for winter.

"Many of the roads could be kept in reasonably good condition if a split log road drag were used. Very few people use the cross roads and they are consequently left in bad condition. These are the roads that cause the most difficulty. County and state patrol roads are in fine condition. This shows what can be done with roads.

May Lose Service
The government is insisting more and more that roads be kept in proper shape and the danger is that the government will withdraw delivery service where they are not kept so.

"More than that, bad roads mean serious damage to carriers. One carrier recently broke an axle of his machine in a rut and repairs cost him $42. This happened on a side road where the carrier must go in and back from the main road just to serve two families. It costs the government $30 per year to serve these two families, not to mention the extra expense to the carrier caused by bad road.

"These people could fix the road and it would be a wonderful benefit to themselves also because they must drive over it when they come to town.

"When people demand rural delivery service the claim usually is that they pay taxes, the same as everybody else. There is a general misunderstanding that the postoffice is supported by regular taxes. All the revenue these people are paying to the postoffice is the sum they spend for postage each year.

"It is readily seen that where the government goes to extra expense to save a few people, they ought to be willing to do their part to make that service more easy for the carrier."

INGROWN TOE NAIL
TURNS OUT ITSELF

A few drops of "Outgrow" upon the skin surrounding the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night.

"Outgrow" is a harmless, antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.

How Volcanoes Cause Our Blizzards

SUN

The Countless Tons of Dust Shot Up Into the Heavens Travel Around
the Earth Forming a Sunshade Which Cools Our Air
and Turns Into Blizzards What Would Have Been Rain
Storms

The Outburst of Volcanic Dust from the Java Volcano Kalut in the Spring of 1919, Which Affected the Summer Weather That Year All Over the Earth.

THE severe blizzards which have made this Spring so unseasonable, covering large sections of the country with a heavy snowfall and doing tremendous damage to orchards and crops, are declared by science to be the direct result of the recently renewed activity of some of the world's greatest volcanoes.

Early in April, immediately following brilliant auroral displays caused by sunspots, Mount Vesuvius in Italy, Mount Popocatepetl in Mexico and numerous other volcanoes in widely separated parts of the earth burst into eruption. From their craters, which had long been more or less inactive, there suddenly came belching forth vast quantities of dust, ashes and molten lava.

The millions of tons of dust and ashes from these volcanoes quickly saturated the upper atmosphere of the earth and formed a screen which prevents the full warmth of the sun's rays from reaching us. It is exactly as if a gigantic sunshade had been raised over the earth. Just as we are cooler on a hot Summer day when we raise a parasol to protect us from the sun's rays, so the whole earth is made many degrees cooler by the interposition of this screen of volcanic dust between it and the sun.

Volcanoes caused the recent blizzards by throwing out this dust screen, and thus shutting off so much of the sun's warmth that the earth's temperature quickly sank to the freezing point. This low temperature transformed what would otherwise have been a warm Spring rain into the blizzards of hail and snow that caused such widespread damage.

If the volcanoes continue active, as now seems likely, and the dust screen between us and the sun keeps growing thicker and thicker, we may look forward to unseasonably cool weather all Summer long and to a Winter of unusual severity.

"The warm Winter we have just had," says Professor E. B. Frost, of Yerkes Observatory, Williams Bay, Wisconsin, "was undoubtedly due to the absence of volcanic dust from the air. Until April, when the volcanoes began their violent eruption, the earth's atmosphere had for a long period been particularly clear of volcanic dust."

Since the dust, ashes and lava which volcanoes pour out are all at a very high temperature, it might be thought that a series of eruptions would have just the opposite effect on our weather from what it does—that it would make the earth warmer instead of colder. But the volcanic matter from the craters cools too quickly in the earth's atmosphere to make any perceptible increase in our heat.

Whatever effect the release of large quantities of heat units from the earth's interior might have in the way of raising temperature is more than counterbalanced by the screen which the dust forms and which shuts off a large part of the sun's heat.

A tremendous eruption of Mount Erebus, near the South Pole, could, and at least once has, given us an approximation of the glacial age in a cold-killing Winter and a cold Summer in which little vegetation could develop and ripen.

It is easy to understand how this could happen—and how it may easily happen again.

The temperature of the earth is determined wholly by the amount of radiant energy it receives from the sun. This energy, in the form of light rays, passes through the space between us and our luminary without any effects of heat.

But our earth is surrounded by a gaseous envelope which we call the atmosphere. When the rays of the sun pass through the atmosphere and fall upon the earth's surface their energy is released in the form of heat. Almost all the heat in our atmosphere comes from the radiation of sun rays from the earth's surface.

The sun delivers, then, every day a certain quantity of heat rays through the atmospheric envelope of our earth. If the skies be clear about half of this heat—speaking very roughly—reaches the surface of the world. The other rays have been turned back by minute particles of dust and by particles of watery vapor. If there are clouds, why then these masses intercept the passage of more rays.

By throwing up countless tons of fine dust high in the atmosphere they interpose between the sun and us a cosmic umbrella. The sun rays are deflected by the countless particles, back into space, and every one so turned back means one unit of heat lost to us.

The dust thrown up by the tremendous eruptions is known to have risen as high as fifty miles. The grains are so minute that gravitation has very little effect upon them, and they may, and often do, require years to fall back to the earth's surface. In the meantime they are taken by the winds and strewed throughout the whole upper atmosphere until no part of it remains unaffected.

A study of the weather conditions which have followed other volcanic eruptions shows that the recent blizzards are quite what might have been expected and strengthens the belief that a cool Summer and an extremely severe Winter are ahead of us.

In 1912 Alaska was the scene of one of the greatest volcanic outbursts on record. Mount Katmai, a peak 7,500 feet high, exploded. The noise it made was heard in Juneau, 750 miles away, and across the mountains at Dawson, 650 miles distant. Intense darkness, black as midnight in the daytime, prevailed over a vast area, lasting for sixty hours at Kodiak, 100 miles away.

Sulphurous fumes were distinguishable in Puget Sound, 1,500 miles from the burning mountain. Dust fell at Juneau, and in the Yakon Valley, fifteen miles from Katmai, its deposits were four and a half feet deep. All vegetation was annihilated, and bears, rabbits, caribou and other animals went blind.

This eruption occurred June 6, and more than a year of unusually cold weather followed it—not only in the United States, but in Europe also.

Following the great volcanic outburst of Krakatoa in 1883, there were two years of red sunsets all over the world, due to the dust-cloud that enveloped the entire earth.

The dust from Krakatoa was quickly distributed by the winds everywhere throughout the upper atmospheric levels. And that is what happens more or less whenever there is a volcanic outburst anywhere in the world.

Krakatoa was a mountainous island in the Straits of Sunda, between Java and Sumatra, but the dust it threw up on the occasion mentioned gave the United States three cool Summers and three very cold Winters. All over the earth the temperature was below normal for that length of time.

Krakatoa, literally blew itself to pieces. It killed 10,000 natives and built up in the middle of the Straits in a single night a brand-new mountain twenty-five miles in circumference and two miles high. The explosions were plainly audible at a distance of 2,000 miles.

The year 1851 was long remembered as the "year without a Summer." This long-continued cold, it is now known, was due to the great eruption of Mount Tomboro, at the east end of Java, which destroyed 66,000 lives. For three days darkness prevailed over all that region to a distance of 200 miles. It was estimated that enough dust was thrown out to cover the whole State of Texas to a depth of two feet.

During the year that followed the United States had snow in every month! For some reason the heaviest part of the dust cloud hovered over America.

The weather all over the earth was unpleasantly affected during the Summer of 1919 by the outburst of volcanic dust which followed the eruption of Kalut, on the island of Java, in the Spring of that year.

The greatest volcanic catastrophe in history occurred in 1783, when Asamayama, on the main island of Japan, blew up. The mountain threw great volumes of dust to a height of fifty miles, and for years the atmosphere all over the earth was foggy with it.

Benjamin Franklin wrote: "There was a fog all over Europe. It was of a permanent nature and dry. Rays of the sun passing through it were so faint that, when collected in the focus of a burning-glass, they would scarcely kindle paper."

Franklin's statement illustrates the idea perfectly. The sun's rays could not get through the dust-fog to the earth, or, at all events, suffered so much interference that the heat supply furnished by the orb was largely shut off. No wonder that the following Winter—1783-4—was severe. The next two years also were very cold.

It seems incredible that the eruption of a volcano in far-off Italy, or even in the neighboring country of Mexico, can be the means of inflicting unseasonable blizzards upon the United States, but such is actually the case. Indeed, science regards volcanic activity, or lack of activity, as one of the best means for predicting weather conditions for long periods of time over a large part of the earth's surface.

Professor Perret on the Edge of the Crater, Listening to the Roaring of Old Vesuvius.

Diagram Showing How a Violent Volcanic Eruption Throws Out Millions of Tons of Dust and Ashes, Which Saturates the Upper Atmosphere of the Earth, Forming a Screen Which Prevents the Full Warmth of the Sun's Rays from Reaching the Earth's Surface, Cools Our Weather, and in Winter Time Turns Heavy Rainstorms into Heavy Snowfalls.

A single volcano can emit a dust cloud thick enough to make a whole continent shiver, but it is a rare thing for there to be only one eruption at a time. As a rule, when one volcano "erects off" a number of others explode almost simultaneously.

There is, for example, a marked sympathy between Vesuvius, near Naples, and Etna, on the island of Sicily, and when one is active the other at least threatens eruption.

What would happen if all the volcanoes in the world should break loose together in a long-continued series of eruptions is an interesting subject for scientific speculation.

Quite probably the cloud of volcanic dust that would be raised would be vast and dense enough to effect a radical change in the world's climate for an indefinite period. It might even bring about another Ice Age—wrap our cities and the other evidences of our civilization in a blanket of ice many feet thick.

That the end of all life on this earth may come some day through shutting off the sun's heat with a volcanic dust cloud of unprecedented vastness and density is believed by many scientists to be quite within the bounds of possibility.

SHARP ADVANCE IN RAIL SECURITIES

By United Press Leased Wire
New York — There were indications early in the afternoon that the margin chiefs were working in their stead in the rail security market and this was the signal for a sharp advance in security prices. The leaders were again the oils. Steel common, however, was taken in hand just before the close and U. S. Steel common was put above 50. Crucible was the feature of the Independent Steel group.

Pacific Oil was the most heavily traded in stock of the day with a turnover that ran well above fifty thousand shares. At 47 this stock established a new record high price. It is still insisted in quarters which should know that Standard Oil of California is today the largest individual holder of Pacific Oil shares. Incidentally, Standard Oil of California had a sharp advance which carried it above 52.

STILL NO TRACE OF TWO MISSING DUCK HUNTERS

Abandoned Launch is Found in Weeds But Men and Small Boat are Missing

Prankie search by 30 citizens of Neenah and Winneconne and duck hunters of the neighborhood was being conducted Thursday along the upper shores of Lake Winneconne to find any possible trace which will lead to the discovery of Henry Kalbus, Dale cheese-maker, and Ray Thompson, Mikeville butcher, who have been missing since Monday night.

The search has been proceeding methodically since Tuesday morning but up till Thursday afternoon not the slightest clue had been found which might lead to the discovery of the men or the recovery of their dead bodies. With every passing hour, hope for their recovery alive was fading and it was becoming generally believed that the two men had drowned in the lake during the storm which swept that vicinity Monday afternoon and evening.

The two men left their home in Mikesville early Monday afternoon and autoed to the Fred Paulsen farm near the lake-shore where they were to make their headquarters during their hunting trip.

About 4:30 in the afternoon they left the house and started out on the lake in Mr. Paulsen's launch with a rowboat in tow. That was the last that has been seen of them. The launch was recovered Tuesday among the high weeds at the north end of the lake, but the rowboat could not be found. Decey which the hunters had taken with them were still in the launch and the anchor was lying in the bottom of the boat, exploding the supposition that the men had anchored the launch and rowed away in the smaller craft.

About 3 1/2 miles from the village, the searchers have found a blind which is believed to have been erected by the missing men and from this vantage point they are supposed to have begun hunting.

Supposition is that the launch had been pulled up to the shore near this point and had been blown away by the wind and that the men were swamped while endeavoring to recover the drifting craft by rowing after it.

Mr. Thompson is said to have been an experienced boatman and hunter which leads more mystery to the inexplicable disappearance of the two. Mr. Kalbus was less experienced in boating and hunting.

JUDGE REFUSES TO FREE PARDONED MAN

By United Press Leased Wire
Merrill, Wis. — Judge A. H. Rold of this city Thursday declined Gov. John J. Blaine, in connection with the pardon of Peter Christ who is serving a four month sentence at the Langlade county jail.

Judge Rold has ordered the sheriff of Langlade county to hold the man despite the pardon order of Gov. Blaine. He further stated the governor had overstepped his authority in pardoning Christ.

Christ was sentenced to serve four months in the county jail for contempt of court when he was brought before Judge Rold charged with being a strike picket, contrary to the order of the court during the lumber strike in this section, recently.

Blanton Charged With Printing Foul Language in U. S. Record

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington. — Representative Thomas L. Blanton of Texas has committed a "gross and vile crime against the decency of the nation," and has violated to the utmost the confidence of congress, Representative Mondell, Republican floor leader, declared when the house met Thursday to vote on Blanton's expulsion.

Mondell passionately called on the house "to save its honor" by unsanctified the Texan, charged with having had printed in the Congressional Record an affidavit from a government printing office employee containing "foul and loathsome" language.

Blanton took the floor to defend himself.

"With od as my witness," he cried, "I have intended to do no wrong."

TIRED TEAMSTER FALLS OFF WAGON; IS NEAR DEATH

Dennis Hail is Victim of Peculiar Accident Near Medina Wednesday

Dennis Hail, a teamster for the Green Bay Construction Co. was injured, probably fatally when he became entangled in the whistles of the wagon he was riding between Dale and Medina, about 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Papers found on him indicate he was driving a team, belonging to the Green Bay company, from Marshfield, where the company had been engaged in construction work, to Green Bay. It was thought that Hail, fatigued from the long journey, fell asleep, lost his balance and fell off. The flesh was torn from his arms and he was suffering from internal injuries. Hail was taken to Theda Clark hospital, Neenah, where he is in a critical condition.

No reply has been received from the Green Bay company relative to the man's connections and his family.

KARA OSMAN SUCCUMBS TO GEORGE HILL'S HEADLOCK

YOUNG POLE IS EASY VICTIM OF HILL'S PET HOLD

Small Crowd Sees Interesting Match Open Wrestling Season in Appleton

Mr. Kara Osman of Chicago and Florida is a coming young wrestler but he hasn't come quite far enough to beat Mr. George Hill who returned to these parts a few weeks ago after spending the summer with a carnival. Mr. Hill clamped on his justly famous headlock and squeezed Mr. Osman into submission twice in succession in Armory G Wednesday evening, doing the little trick the first time in 20 minutes and 20 seconds and the second time in 10 minutes and 20 seconds. Be it said to the credit of Mr. Osman, however, that he gave our George quite a battle while he lasted. The crowd was only fair sized but was much enthused over the scrap.

Osman's weight was announced as 180 pounds but he looked lighter while Hill was said to tip the scales at 195. George is a little fat around the midriff as yet and could stand a few more days of good hard training and the loss of four pounds to put him in the prime condition of last winter. The Chicago grappler looked to be in the pink but admitted he was a little shy on endurance.

Osman Is Fast
It was evident from about the first minute that George wasn't going to have a walkaway. His opponent sailed into him in good style and it wasn't long before he clamped on a double wrist lock that had George a little worried. Hill let him slip on his tumbled body scissors but apparently there isn't quite as much power in Osman's legs as reports indicated, as George came up smiling after breaking the hold.

Osman worked mighty fast and kept Hill on the defensive about half the time in the first bout. Every little while George would slip on his headlock and Osman would be a little slower when he broke out. Finally he caught the visitor with a dandy and was squeezing him pretty hard when Osman waved his hand in token that he had enough of that medicine.

The defeat apparently didn't discourage the youngster for he went after Hill at the start of the second bout stronger than ever. He began using his head scissors with considerable effect and had our champ in a couple of bad places. Two or three times Hill was caught in a wrist lock and head or body scissors and he had to use all the skill and strength at his command to get loose. Osman also tried to serve George some of his own medicine by sticking on the headlock but he isn't quite as adept at that kind of embracing and George shook him loose easily. Once Hill had Osman in a crotch hold that looked like curtains for the young Pole but he kicked himself out.

Ends Unexpectedly
The end came rather unexpectedly. Kara was punishing George with a fair to middling toe hold when George drove his feet out like a frog and before Kara knew what was happening his head was in a vice. He kicked around for a few seconds but all he could do was stretch his neck so he had to admit the George would be the main champion of Wisconsin and surrounding territory so far as he was concerned, at least for the present.

After the fall Osman announced, through Referee L. W. Rhodes, that he is willing to tackle Hill again anytime and any place after two weeks on a basis of winner take all the gate proceeds the promoter is willing to give up a $500 stake as well. Maybe the two grapplers will not get together again and if they do it will be a bout worth going a long way to see.

Osman is only 23 years old and built like a Greek statue. He knows how to play the wrestling game and is sure to be heard from in the next few years if he takes care of himself. He is a mighty powerful lad and about as quick as a cat.

HERMANN THINKS RUTH IS DUE FOR A "RIDE"

Cincinnati, O.—That Babe Ruth will be suspended for all of next season for his violation of organized baseball rules concerning a world series player signing in a barnstorming tour, was the opinion expressed by August Hermann, president of the Reds and formerly chairman of the national baseball commission.

"I am very positive that Commissioner Landis will not condone Ruth's action to any extent," said Hermann. "I am sure that the player will be suspended and possibly for all of next season. It is certain, in my mind, that he will not start the season with the Yanks at any rate."

LITTLE CHUTE GRIDDERS WANT TO PLAY KAUKAUNA

Given almost unlimited confidence by its win over the Rex theatre of Oshkosh last Sunday afternoon, the American Legion football team of Little Chute has challenged the Kaukauna American Legion team to a game to be played anywhere except at Kaukauna. The Little Chute team says it played at Kaukauna last year and this year's game should be played elsewhere.

Little Chute won from the Oshkosh team, 7 to 6, after a hard and snappy fight. It has won all its games except one this season. Kaukauna will be played at Little Chute next Sunday afternoon.

Starring Means Hard Work

GEORGE OWEN, 19-YEAR-OLD HARVARD HALFBACK

Boston, Mass.—George Owen, 19-year-old star halfback of the Harvard Varsity, takes a serious view of life and its problems.

And it is perhaps this very seriousness that has made him one of the most feared backs in any football eleven in the east.

"My studies to me are just as important as my work on the football field."

"And I believe that playing football has helped me immensely in my scholastic work."

"Even when I was nothing but a kid, I learned that if I was going to be a successful football player, I must learn to concentrate my attention on the game and on its varied plays and problems."

"If it's practice, it's the coaches and what they are trying to teach you, that must be concentrated on.

"If you don't do this you are apt to miss something that may be invaluable to you later on."

"If it's during a game? Well, it's pretty evident that you have to keep your eyes open then."

"Now that habit of concentrating grows on you."

"You can carry it into the class rooms with you if you will."

"And it aids you immensely in following the routine of class work."

"When you play college football, you have to work, and work hard."

"And like concentration, work gets to be a habit—that is, with some."

"And that same habit of work, if followed out, will prevent any worries on the score of scholastic standing interfering with your playing football."

ROCK ISLAND TO PLAY PACKER TEAM

Famous Illinois Squad Will do Battle on Green Bay Grid-iron Sunday

Another rattling good game is promised followers of professional football at Green Bay next Sunday afternoon when the Packers collide with the Rock Island Independents, one of the greatest teams in America. The Independents held the mighty Decatur Staleys to a 14 to 10 score a few weeks ago and have defeated the Detroit Hurons and the Chicago Cardinals. The Chicago team is headed by Paddy Driscoll and is made up entirely of famous college stars.

Rock Island outplayed the Staleys until the last few minutes of the game when a lucky play gave victory to the Staleymakers.

Reports from Green Bay are to the effect that the Independents will be paid $2,500 for the Green Bay game. The Packers have increased their expense account by adding a few more college stars. Football followers generally believe that the Packers is one of the strongest teams in the country.

ERNIE RICE HITCHES WAGON TO HIGH STAR

By United Press Leased Wire
New York—Stripping along in the procession of British sport kings that have stalked across the American field this year, comes now a fight champion.

Ernie Rice, an English-Italian, on the British population sheet as Ernie Rice is here with the Lonsdale belt as a voucher that he is "the lightweight champion of the isles."

Rice came over in an "unofficial capacity." With painful memories of what happened to Joe Beckett, Jimmie Wilde, Ted Lewis et al. London would not give the lightweight champion official credentials as a national delegate to unseat Benny Leonard.

However, Rice believes he has a chance to do it. His first move to prove his claim to class comes tomorrow night in the Garden when he starts a 15 round bout with Sailor Freedom, the best 125-pounder in Chicago and one of America's ranking battlers.

JOHNNY TILLMAN IS LOSER IN HOT FIGHT

By United Press Leased Wire
St. Louis, Mo.—Alex Trambitich, Portland, got the referee's verdict over Johnny Tillman, St. Paul, after a 12 round bout here last night. Harry Brammer, Kansas City, rocked Mike Dundee, New York, to sleep in the first round of a scheduled ten round bout.

MADISON ALL AGOG OVER HOMECOMING

Madison, Wis.—Homecoming of the University of Wisconsin occupies the attention of the university city this weekend. All Madison is stirring itself to receive and entertain the 10,000 former students who will return for the annual get together and the Wisconsin-Minnesota football battle.

The whole city will be a mass of cardinal and white to welcome the old graduates when they return on Friday. Every lamppost on the business district to the football field will carry the homecoming insignia of a twelve inch monogram combining the "M" and the "W". The main streets will be dressed in flags and pennants and the shops on both sides will blaze with the familiar cardinal and white.

The dome on Bascom hall, which burned in 1916, is being reconstructed and will appear atop Bascom hall again for the homecoming, decorated with a huge homecoming monogram.

Program Begins Friday
Football is the central attraction of homecoming. Back for one real look at the Badgers in action, just as they used to watch them in the days of Cub Buck, Keckli Moll, Eddie Gillette and Van Ripper, or back even when Coach John Richards was starting with Prof. Pyre, the graduates expect Wisconsin to show the spirit that will cause the Gophers' downfall and keep the Badgers in the race for the conference championship.

NEOPIT WANTS TO PLAY LOCAL CAGERS
The first challenge for basketball games received by the newly organized Appleton Basketball club came from Neopit where a strong team is being formed. The challenge was for a game at Neopit Dec. 22.

George Darné, manager of the local team, is busy lining up his players. The first workout will be held late in November and the league schedule is to begin about Dec. 1.

Green Bay is showing considerable interest in the sport this year and will be represented by a strong team. Fond du Lac also is priming itself for a stiff season.

WAS HURTING ALL THE TIME
Kidney trouble saps vitality and strength. It causes backache, head-ache, stiff joints, sore muscles, shooting pains. John F. Brooks, 712 S. 17th St., Omaha, Neb., writes: "My back was hurting me and I had a pain in my right side. Since taking Foley Kidney Pills I feel no pain at all. Sold everywhere."

INTEREST IN GRID SPORT INCREASING

Huge Crowd is Assured for High School Game With Waupun Here on Saturday

High school football men are putting every ounce of their energy into their work of preparation for the game with Waupun at Lawrence field next Saturday afternoon following word from the Prison City that the team which will come up here is one of the strongest in Wisconsin. The record of the team this season is imposing and merits hard work on the part of the Orange and Blue squad.

Interest in football here is increasing daily. The impressive showings made by the high school and college teams last Saturday have proved that Appleton is represented by real squads and as a consequence attendance at the games is sure to increase.

The high school game next Saturday will be started about 2:15 in order to finish before dark. Last week the local team did not get started until so late in the afternoon that it was necessary to finish the game by artificial light. Misplays are easy under those conditions and a fluke might easily lose a game for a stronger team.

Badger Star

Guy M. Sundt

Captain Guy Sundt, Wisconsin's star fullback, is expected to lead the Badgers to victory when they battle their old rivals, Minnesota, in their homecoming game at Madison, Oct. 29. Sundt is one of the best punters in the west and is the equal of any line plunger in the Big Ten conference. His kicking and fighting qualities are giving him preference on honorary elevens this year.

FORESTER CAGE MEN GET FIRST WORKOUTS

Basketballers trying out for places on the Catholic Order of Forester team will get their first workouts Thursday evening in St. Joseph hall. The practice is to start at 7:30. Much interest is being displayed in the first basketball team ever attempted by the local court and it is believed a large number of young men will try for positions. The court contains many young men who give promise of being real basketball stars with a little training.

Games will be scheduled with court teams of other cities and with industrial teams. Games will be played in the armory.

NOTED HINDU GRAPPLER LOSES MATCH TO STECHER

Kansas City, Mo.—Gobar, the Hindu, met defeat at the hands of Joe Stecher, former heavyweight champion, in straight falls in a lame wrestling match here last night. The East Indian's shoulders were pinned to the mat in one hour, 15 minutes and 31 seconds. The second fall came in eight minutes, 47 seconds.

RHEUMATISM LEAVES YOU FOREVER

Deep Seated Uric Acid Deposits Are Dissolved and the Rheumatic Poison Starts to Leave the System Within Twenty-four Hours

Schlitz Bros. Co., Voigt's Drug Store, Union Pharmacy and every druggist in this county is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer in this vicinity that if two bottles of Allenru the sure conqueror of rheumatism, does not stop all agony, reduce swollen joints and do away with even the slightest twinge of rheumatic pain, he will gladly return your money without comment. Allenru has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished even in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and pitiable and where the patient was helpless. Allenru relieves at once. Immediately after you start to take it the good work begins. It searches out the uric acid deposits, dissolves the secretions and drives rheumatic poison out of the body through the kidneys and bowels. It's marvelous how quickly it acts. Blessed relief often comes in two days, and even in cases where the suffering is most painful all traces disappear in a few days. Mr. James H. Allen, the discoverer of Allenru, who for many years suffered the torments of acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless Allenru decisively conquers this worst of all diseases, and he has instructed Schlitz Bros. Co., Voigt's Drug Store and Union Pharmacy to guarantee it in every instance.

GOPHER BASKETBALLERS REPORTING FOR PRACTICE

Minneapolis—Although not hopeful of winning the conference basketball championship this year, Dr. L. J. Cooke, coach of the Minnesota basketball team, was not disheartened by the size, or quality of the squad that reported to him for the first drill of the year Thursday night.

Forty men, including several regulars and many substitutes of last year's team were on the armory floor to receive the first instruction. Among

Rudy Hultkrantz, center on last year's team; Bob Sullivan, standing guard, who showed remarkable skill at placing long passes and intercepting them; Austin Grimes, occasional center; Bill Forrester, a stocky and effective guard; Dewey Fogelberg, the deadeye forward who was only deprived of a regular berth last season by the fact that Arnold Oss and Neal Arntson were of such superlative skill; Fred Becker, who was barred by ineffectuality; "Newt" Doyle, Cy Olson and several other members of last year's strong freshman team.

"Pape's Cold Compound" Breaks any Cold in a Few Hours

Instant Relief! Don't stay stuffed-up! Quit blowing and snuffling! A dose of "Pape's Cold Compound" taken every two hours until three doses are taken usually breaks any cold right up. The first dose opens clogged-up nostrils and air passages of head; stops nose running; relieves headache, dizziness, feverishness, sneezing. "Pape's Cold Compound" is the quickest, surest relief known and costs only a few cents at drug stores. It acts without assistance. Tastes nice. Contains no quinine. Insist upon Pape's.

Dress Gloves

There is no question but what good looking gloves give considerable influence to a man's appearance—Of course if gloves were merely bought for "looks" many men would go without them. But they are necessary to cold weather comfort and as long as you must have them, better get them here—ours are the celebrated "Fownes" make. They fit perfectly and wear longer.

THIEDE Good Clothes

Black Silk Stove Polish
is not only most economical, but it gives a brilliant, silky lustre that cannot be obtained with any other polish. Black Silk Stove Polish does not rub off or last four times as long as ordinary polish—so it saves you time, work and money. Don't forget when you want stove polish, be sure to ask for Black Silk. It isn't the best stove polish you ever used—your dealer will refund your money.
